

FFA To Present Keystone Degrees To 204

His projects include greenhouse production and off-farm work experience with market hogs.

Scott's also been involved with his chapter's plant sales, banquet, community service, Food For America, FFA Week, summer/national convention, and swine committees.

He has earned his Greenhand, Chapter, and SUN Area degrees and was awarded a proficiency award in agricultural mechanics. He said his plan for the future is to keep farming.

Scott Nolt

Scott Nolt, 18, son of Allen and Carol Nolt, Lebanon, is a four-year member of the Cedar Crest FFA and has served as its president for the past two years. He also served as county chaplain and vice president.

He said his long-range plan is to work to increase his dairy cattle herd size and eventually own a dairy operation.

Scott's FFA projects include working with his dairy herd and growing grain corn. His activities include going to the National FFA Convention, the Washington D.C. conference program, and Penn State Activities Week.

In addition to serving in leadership, Nolt also has chaired his chapter's safety, earning and saving, alumni, leadership, BOAC, and supervised committees, and also worked on its public relations committee.

He has won his chapter Star Farmer degree, and won awards in parliamentary procedure at the county area, regional and state levels, took first place in dairy judging in 1993, and won dairy and corn proficiency awards.

Daniel Oberlin

Daniel Paul Spangler Oberlin, 18, son of Corey and Corole Oldt, Lewisburg, has served as sentinel, chaplain and assistant chaplain of the Mifflinburg FFA Chapter, in Union County.

Oberlin, who said he intends to pursue a college degree and study mechanics after finishing high school, has earned his Greenhand, Chapter, and SUN Area degrees.

His FFA projects have been on-farm and off-farm work experience, and he has served as chairman of his chapter's cider and citrus committees, and been a member of its executive and summer meeting committees.

His activities include participating in the Beaver Fair forestry skills contests, placing sixth in 1992 in the chain saw contest, and first last year in the two-man crosscut saw contest. He also competes in log rolling.

Other activities include land judging, forestry, dairy judging, keeping a record book, participating in the SUN Area leadership contest, and helping with the FFA Food for American program.

Michelle Powell

Michelle Powell, 17, daughter of Mary and Joseph Scaramuzzino, Honey Brook, is a three-year member and president of the Twin Valley FFA Chapter. She is also vice president of the Chester County FFA.

Having won a variety of awards, including a Floriculture Foundation Award and her Greenhand and Chapter degrees, she also serves on the chapter's dance committee, its Food For American program, pet therapy, and keeps an SAE record book, doing home improvement and work experience projects.

She said that after graduating from high school, she plans to work for her mother, who runs a bakery, and then perhaps later apply for the U.S. Coast Guard.

Domenick T. Puleo Jr.

Domenick T. Puleo Jr., 17, son of Domenick and Nancy Puleo, New Paris, is vice president of the Chestnut Ridge FFA Chapter in Bedford County and has served as its reporter.

With plans to attend college and pursue studies in elementary education and athletic training, Puleo currently is involved in various activities, including raising market hogs and sheep and capons.

He's involved in the Food for America program, the chapter's apple butter boil, citrus sales, candy sales, fair booth, banquet, and scrapbook committees.

Domenick has received his Greenhand and Chapter degrees, and also has been recognized for proficiency and received honors for his project book and livestock judging.

Tracey Dawn Putt

Tracey D. Putt, 17, daughter of Donald and Barbara Putt, Elverson, has served as vice president of the Twin Valley FFA and won a number of medal and awards for her record-keeping skills.

During her four years with the chapter, she has been involved in pet therapy, a petting zoo, Spring Fair, a dairy farm tour, area land judging, tree planting, the Hay Creek Fall and Apple festivals, and livestock, horse, and dairy judging.

She has also participated in the Berks County record book contest, several programs for academic achievement and personal development, the Blue Mountain Co-op Institute, Food for America, and has participated in competitions at the Kutztown, Reading, and Allentown fairs.

Tracey lists numerous awards for her record books — including a bronze medal for horse records, a first place in horses, and a third for off-farm work — for fruit and vegetable honors, livestock judging awards, a horse proficiency award, a beef proficiency award, and a silver medal at the state level for her FFA record book.

She said that, following high school, she intends to enroll at Bel-Rea Institute in Denver, Colo., to study to be a veterinarian technician.

Donald Reath

Donald Reath, 18, son of Jeffrey and Theresa Godra, Loysville, has been a member of West Perry FFA Chapter for the past three years, currently serving as its treasurer. He has also served as its chaplain and as the CDP Area FFA vice president.

Reath has served as chairman of his chapter's BOAC, banquet, and trip committees and has been doing on-farm work experience as his project.

He was a member of the second place dairy judging team during the FFA State Activities Week at Penn State, took a gold medal in the state record book contest, and has earned his CDP area degree, and chapter proficiency awards and was chapter Star Agribusinessman. He also placed in proficiency in agricultural production, agricultural electrification, wildlife management, and public speaking.

Donald said that he would like to attend a four-year agricultural college after completing high school.

Daniel Resh

Daniel Resh, 18, son of Ronald and Diane Resh, York Springs, is a four-year member of the Bermudian FFA Chapter at Bermudian Springs High School in Adams County.

Currently secretary of his chapter, he has achieved his Greenhand and Chapter degrees. He has also placed first in the Adams, Franklin, and York counties' fruit
