innovative animal identification methods, by-law proposals and any other topics requested by those attending the forum.

National Secretary Steve Kerr and other Brattleboro staff will answer questions on how the association does its business. Changes in the works will be explained. If you are a Holstein breeder, John Selz, national president, asks for your attendance so that the association has a personal communication link for a stronger association. "Now more than ever the association needs to hear from you," Selz said.
