

Invitation To All Holstein Enthusiasts: Annual Meeting

STATE COLLEGE (Center) — The Pennsylvania Southcentral District Holstein breeders invite Holstein enthusiasts from other states to attend all or part of the 1994 Pennsylvania Annual Holstein Convention in Gettysburg, PA at the Ramada Inn Gettysburg, February 24, 25 and 26 and enjoy "Holsteins and History."

Thursday, February 24 will be Host Day. Bus tours will be available to visit the Gettysburg Battlefield and Cyclorama or to visit Penn Gate Farms, Smokehouse Crafts and the Convention Sale cattle hosted at Way-Brite Farms. Remember to bring your casual or western clothes and boots for the Thursday evening buffet, dance and Karaoke contest fun.

The annual awards breakfast Friday morning will feature speaker Bob Fitzsimmons, general manager of Lylehaven Farms. A very special ladies day luncheon and program featuring a historical wedding fashion show will follow the awards breakfast. The 81st Annual Meeting will convene on Friday at 10:30 a.m. An invitro-fertilization presentation by Em-Tram will be part of the afternoon program as will a presentation by Dr. William Pettit on embryo quick-thaw procedure.

The Friday evening banquet promises a captivating visit from James Getty in character as Abraham Lincoln and Holstein national director Marlin Hoff will sing a patriotic selection. A fun auction will be held to benefit the 1995 National Junior Holstein convention during the evening festivities.

The Convention Sale will be held in the Ramada Ballroom on Saturday morning at 10:30. The sale will feature something for every buyer's needs. Contact the Pennsylvania Holstein Association for sale catalogs.

Of course a delicious dairy bar will be available during the convention and there will be commercial exhibitor booths to visit.

The accommodations at the lovely Ramada Inn will provide the perfect setting for a mid-winter mini vacation. Make plans to attend the 1994 Pennsylvania Annual Holstein Convention and be a part of "Holsteins and History" in Gettysburg. Hope to see you there.

Ladies Day Program

You won't want to miss the Ladies Day Program and Luncheon during the 1994 Pennsylvania Holstein Annual Convention "Holsteins and History" in Gettysburg.

The luncheon will be at Patty and John's Restaurant, Hanover. The restaurant is a beautifully restored barn with solid oak support rafters and wood flooring. Lovely old brick from the streets of Hanover and the old York Market House can be seen in the restoration work. The building was originally part of a working farm built around the 1800s.

The convention theme of "Holsteins and History" will provide a very special ladies program. A Historical Wedding Fashion Show will be presented following a delicious meal. Many of the wedding dresses were worn by Pennsylvania Holstein members on their wedding day. Pennsylvania Holstein women will model the dresses. Included in the show will be two original dresses from the 1920s, a 1936 dress and dresses from each of the decades up through the nineties. Carol Sterling of Yesterday's Bridals will provide gowns that represent the early 1900s in style.

The exceptional program will also feature a short presentation on the role of women during the Civil War period, a wedding cake demonstration, handmade door prizes, lovely favors and the "Singing Millers Plus Six." Remember to bring a photograph from your wedding day for display.

During the return bus trip to the Ramada a short stop will be made at "The Edge of Town," a restored barn with five unique shops.
