Why Ostrich?

The future of the Ostrich in the United States is no longer speculation - it's absolute fact!

- Ostrich have been raised for a 100 years and have a long proven market for their hides, meat and feathers
- Ostrich produce more marketable red meat per bird, per acre, than any other commercially produced livestock.
- Ostrich require less land per animal than any other commercially produced red meat.
- Ostrich meat is already accepted in restaurants and is a requested meat in America today.
