Beef cattle shows and happy faces are all part of the scenes of the Lebanon Area Fair.

The 4-H hog showmanship contests test the abilities of the Lebanon County youth.

Lebanon Area Fair Expects Strong Showing

According to Tony Ebling, assistant fair coordinator, a letter stating a number of changes to the dairy shows was sent out Thursday morning to all who have entered the dairy cattle competitions.

Changes To Dairy Shows
Among the changes,

dairy cattle show times and location have been moved to make the best use of facilities and provide for exhibitor and public viewing ease.
There is also a departure from the previously announced schedule for dairy showmanship and fitting competitions.
According to Ebling, the showmanship and fitting competitions have been moved back a day from previously announced Monday, August 1, to Tuesday, August 2. The fitting is to start at 9 a.m., and the showmanship is to start at 10 a.m.
Also, there will be no separately held Holstein dairy shows for the adults and youth, as was the practice in previous years.
This year, all dairy shows are to be held on Friday, August 5. And the shows will not be held in the new large show barn, called the North Hall, as was the practice since the building was constructed.
Instead, the North Hall is to be used to present live entertainment that previously had been staged under the large food pavilion.
