

4-H'ers Compete At Penn State Achievement Days

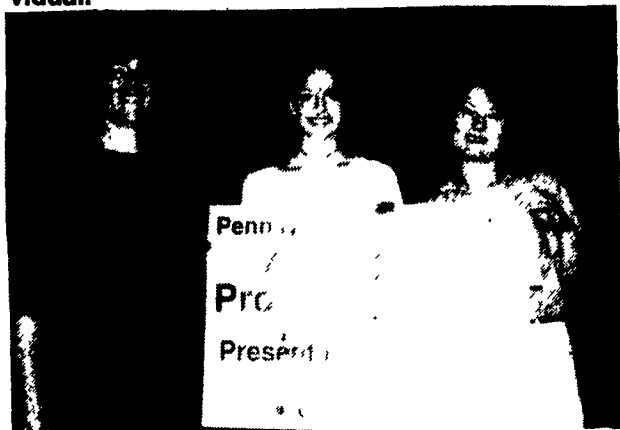

(Continued from Page B18)

The Centre County Horse Judging team took first place in the junior division at the statewide competition on Penn State's University Park Campus. Pictured from left to right are Dr. Katherine Fennelly, professor and head of agricultural and extension education and member of the Youth Program Coordinating Council in Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences; team members Heidi Michaels, Julie Simpson, Christopher Gray, who also placed first in individual standings; and coach, Annette Traband.

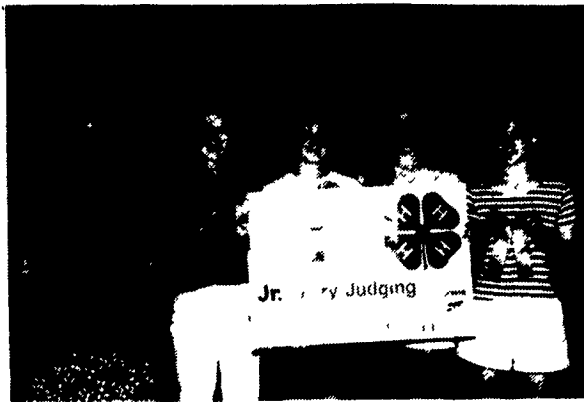

Mercer County Sr. 4-H Horse Judging team took first place in statewide competition. Pictured from left to right are Dr. Katherine Fennelly, professor and head of agricultural and extension education and member of the Youth Program Coordinating Council in Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences; Jackie Reis, Greenville; Rebecca Kerins, Greenville; Samantha Reis, Greenville; and Stacy Hogue, Stoneboro. Jackie Reis finished first as an individual. Beckle Kerins finished third as an individual.

The Fayette County 4-H team took first place in statewide competition on Penn State's University Park Campus. Pictured from left to right are Dr. Katherine Fennelly, professor and head of agricultural and extension education and member of the Youth Program Coordinating Council in Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences; Rachel Christner; and Lynne Roy, 4-H team members. They received a blue ribbon and Medal Award Winner for their senior animal science team demonstration, "Dress For Success."

Susquehanna County 4-H'er Sarah Johnson took first place in statewide individual competition. From left to right are Dr. Katherine Fennelly, professor and head of agricultural and extension education and member of Youth Program Coordinating Council in Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences; Sarah Johnson; and Nick Place, Cooperative Extension Director of Susquehanna County.

Penn State 4-H Achievement Days first place winners with Dr. Katherine Fennelly, professor and head of agricultural and extension education and member of the Youth Program Coordinating Council in Penn State's College of Agricultural and Biological Sciences. The group is the Dairy Judging, Jr. Team of, left to right, Melanie Jarrett, Randi Fogleman, Melissa Daly, and Roberta Fogleman.

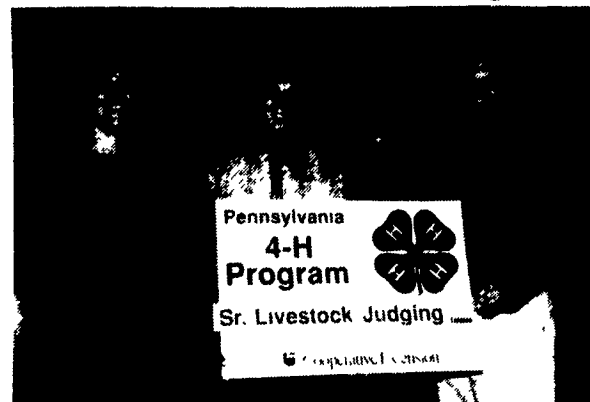

With Dr. Katherine Fennelly is Roberta Fogleman, top individual in junior dairy judging.

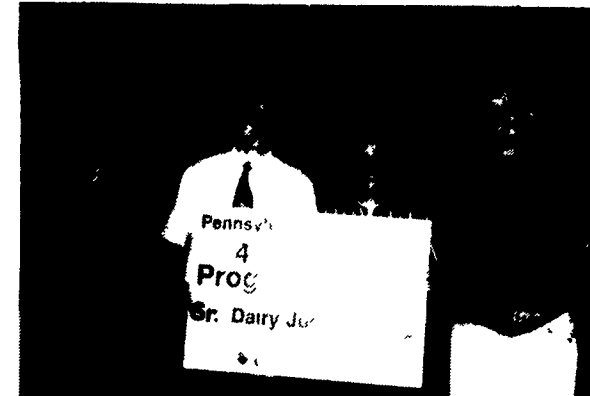

Jill Shollenberger of Mohrsville took first place in statewide rabbit and cavy competition. Pictured from left to right are Dr. Katherine Fennelly, professor and head of agricultural and extension education and member of the Youth Program Coordinating Council in Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences and Jill Shollenberger.

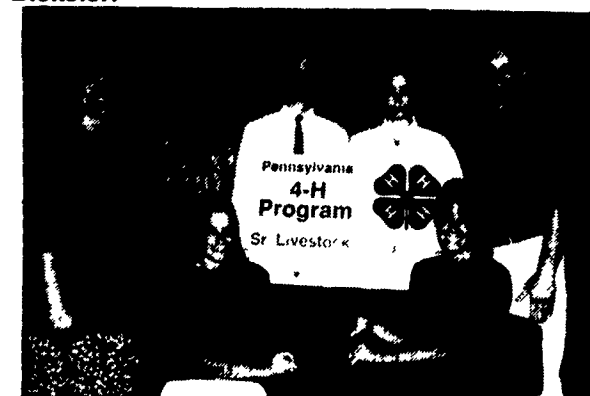

John Koinski of Mohrsville took place in statewide senior air pistol contest. Pictured from left to right are Dr. Katherine Fennelly, professor and head of agricultural and extension education and member of the Youth Program Coordinating Council in Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences and John Koinski.

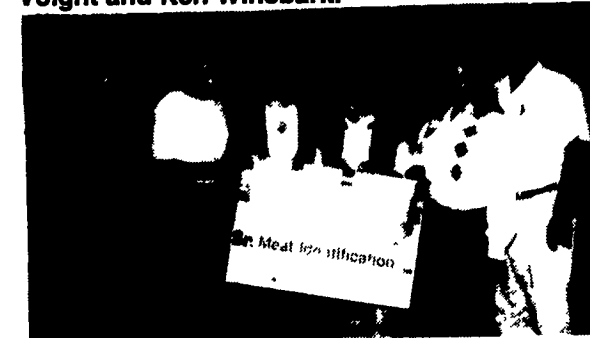

Lebanon County 4-H'er Dan Atkins took first place in the statewide 4-H Livestock Judging Contest held recently at Penn State's University Park Campus. The annual competition is part of Penn State 4-H Achievement Days. Pictured from left to right are Dr. Katherine Fennelly, professor and head of agricultural and extension education and member of the Youth Program Coordinating Council in Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences; Dan Atkins; and coaches Lori Voight and Ken Winebark.

The Lebanon County 4-H Dairy Judging team took first place in statewide competition held recently on Penn State's University Park Campus. The annual competition is part of Penn State 4-H Achievement Days. Pictured from left to right are Dr. Katherine Fennelly, professor and head of Agricultural and Extension Education and member of the Youth Program Coordinating Council in Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences and Lebanon County 4-H team members Kraig Sellers, Jessel Bomgardner, and Ken Winebark, Lebanon County, agricultural extension agent. Missing from the photo are team members Andy and Melissa Bicksler.

The Lebanon County 4-H Livestock Judging team took first place in statewide competition held recently on Penn State's University Park Campus. The annual competition is part of Penn State 4-H Achievement Days. Pictured from left to right are Dr. Katherine Fennelly, professor and head of Agricultural and Extension Education and member of the Youth Program Coordinating Council in Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences; Lebanon County 4-H team members Dan Atkins, Wendy Atkins, Jon Harnish and Benj Bow; and team coaches Lori Voight and Ken Winebark.

Dr. Katherine Fennelly, head of Extension Education at Penn State with first place senior meats judging team - Tammy Dise, Cindy Dehoff, Shanna Daugherty, Jennifer Altobelli and Tim Beck, York County extension livestock agent.

(Turn to Page B20)