Shepherd's Lead Line Oct. 8

HARRISBURG (DAUPHIN CO.) — Who looks better, the sheep or the Shepherd?

Judges will tell at the Keystone International Livestock

Exposition (KILE) Shepherd's Lead Line Competition to be held on Saturday, October 8, at noon at the Farm Show Complex.

The objectives of this class are to present a class of yearling ewes in a most attractive manner and give spectators an opportunity to see the best of the sheep industry.

The normal procedure at a livestock show is for the animal to be all primed and lovely, but in KILE's Lead Line competition the leadman is also in the limelight. Both are to be dressed fashionably in their best wool outfit with at least 80% wool.

Not just another pretty face can steal our show. Our herdsman must not only look grand but our sheep must also show their modeling talents. The contestants and the sheep must be able to work together in the ring.

The stet line competition has been around KILE for years and each year it gets easier for contestants to find their wool garments.

Lead Line contestants await the judges' decisions at KILE.

The Oct. 7 evening arena program at the 1994 KILE will be the "Challenge of the Breeds." This show pits six internationally recognized horse breeds, the Appaloosa, the Arabian, the Paint, Half-Arabian, Quarter Horse, and Percheron, against each other in an evening of fun and mastery. The show will begin at 7 p.m. in the large arena.

The animals, two from each breed, will be chosen by their respective breed association. In order to compete, the horse must be owned by a Pennsylvania resident. An admission fee of $5.00 will be charged. The six events in which each horse will be entered include: Pleasure driving, english pleasure, hunter hack, western pleasure, western riding, and barrel racing. The horses will be judged at each of these events on a point system.

This marks the fifth time that a "Challenge of the Breeds" event has been held in Pennsylvania. The horses that participate must be high in confirmation and performance and also versatile.
