

Pennsylvania Farm Show

Mike Wharton of York County, along with two North Carolinians, Bob Davis and Stephen Keeney, will be making shoes and putting them on one of the huge draft horses. Using a forge, anvil and hand tools, including a 12-pound hammer, two people make the shoe, the other prepares the hoof and nails on the shoe.

The state FFA convention again is to be held in the Large Arena, this year starting at 4 p.m., Monday.

"I'm really pleased to have that herd," Ritter said. "It used to be held down at the Forum. I'm pleased because we have loads of kids here (to participate and observe), as they should be."

There are also Farm Show commemorative trucks and tractors for sale again this year, and the Pennsylvania State Police will have their booth and station located against the north wall of the Main Exhibition Hall, where they've been located for years, to answer questions and help children locate and reunite their wandering parents.

Also, perhaps the most significant change that visitors will notice is the traffic signal that was installed along Cameron Street in front of the Farm Show this past year.

While traffic is always somewhat congested around the area of the complex, the traffic signal should allow a better flow of traffic — both coming to and leaving the complex.

As far as the weather, crews had plenty of practice keeping the lot clean last year and Ritter said they are stocked and prepared to tackle any type of winter weather that may happen.

WHY ARE SO MANY ADDING TWO-WAY MOBILES?

"We added a two-way mobile radio system to improve our overall service. Avoiding costly downtime makes our customers, and us, more productive. With our E.F. Johnson Clearchannel® LTR system our service technicians are never out of touch."

Phil Wimer
 Partner/Parts Manager
 Landis Bros. Inc.

Why are more and more farms and businesses adding E.F. Johnson Clearchannel® LTR mobile communications? Because they discovered the cost saving efficiencies two-way radio provides. Access your personnel readily, reduce costly delays, and react immediately to emergency needs from any locations.

Don't get caught short in your busy season without good communications. See why so many are adding a Clearchannel® mobile system.
