DVC Draws More Than 25,000 To A-Day

DOYLESTOWN (Bucks Co.)—Despite a daylong battle with the forces of mother nature, Delaware Valley College's 47th Annual A-Day attracted more than 25,000 people to the Doylestown campus recently.

A-Day has been a long standing tradition in Bucks County. Flower and craft shows, science exhibits, food, hayrides, pony rides and horse shows were just a few of the attractions which have drawn so many from across the Delaware Valley.

Christopher S. Beadling, director of public relations for the college, said, "A-Day provides our students the opportunity to showcase the hands-on side of learning they use here every day while providing a valuable service to the Central Bucks community."

All A-Day activities were planned, prepared and presented by members of the student body. James Koontz, the chairman of the

A-Day committee, said, "I'm glad that everyone who came to this year's event had so many opportunities to see what our students can do. For me, the smiles I saw on the children's faces were enough proof everything had been a success."

One of the highlights of the weekend was the crowning of seniors Edward Wolford of Lehighton and Jennifer Reynolds of Mays Landing, N.J. as the A-Day king and queen.

Quarryville Growers' Market Opens May 27

QUARRYVILLE (Lancaster Co.) — The "Quarryville Growers' Market," featuring farm-fresh produce grown on local farms, will open Saturday, May 27.

The new market is located at the intersection of routes 222 and 372 at the "Goods Store" parking lot in Quarryville.

Market hours for the season are from 8:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. every Saturday from Memorial Weekend through the end of the growing season in November.

In season, farm-fresh produce available at the market will include vegetables and fruits as well as new and unusual varieties. Herbs, cut flowers, strawberries, honey, and baked goods will also be featured.

Growers' markets provide consumers with quality, regionally grown produce while giving farmers a viable outlet for marketing their products. While some farmers' markets include products that are not locally grown, growers' markets feature only products from local farms.

For more details about the market contact market managers Paul or Carol Hauser at (610) 869-2791.

Goat Educational Meeting

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — People interested in dairy goats are invited to attend an educational meeting at 7.30 p.m. on Thursday, June 1, in the basement of the Lancaster Farm and Home Center.

Joy Goode, a veterinarian from the Strasburg area, will address health and veterinary concerns. Feeds and feeding practices will be discussed by Nevin Gish of McCracken's Feed Mill in Manheim. Rick and Denise Goss of Re 1 Gate Farm in Palmyra will focus on herd management as they share some of their goat managing experience. Lancaster Extension Agent, Glenn Shirk will talk about pastures and Jacob Fisher, of Windy Hill Goat Dairy in Manheim, will have a display of goat publications and information.

The meeting is open to the public
