Join the Gehl Round Baler Revolution

Gehl's Total Density Control balers preserve feed quality while delivering more material in every bale. You save time with fewer bales to make, move, store and feed. Plus you can easily custom-build bales to match crop and moisture conditions for maximum nutrient value.

Gehl's simple design uses "airdraulics", a combination of air pressure and hydraulic pressure, to control bale formation. This efficient design requires less horsepower while delivering sure, fast starts in a wide variety of crops and conditions, so you keep moving.

Choose the electrically operated dual twine wrap system or Gehl's Quick-Wrap option. Quick-Wrap covers more surface area for a more complete wrap with less leaf loss and better weatherability.

You're in complete control with Gehl's new Electronic Bale Control System. With its digital screen and audible alarm you'll monitor every baling function while maintaining total control.

Let your Gehl dealer show you why Total Density Control balers deliver more value for your round baling dollar.
