PMMB Lowers Over-Order Premium

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The Pennsylvania Milk Marketing Board has approved a 30-cent reduction in the over-order premium on Class I (fluid milk) sold in the state.

The over-order premium is an additional price put on Class I milk that is authorized to boost farmgate prices for that milk.

According to a news release from the agency, the current premium of 80 cents per hundredweight (cwt.) is to drop a dime to 70 cents effective August 1.

Another 10-cent drop is scheduled to occur Sept.1, while an additional drop effective Oct. 1 will reduce the premium to 50 cents per cwt.

Also, in Milk Marketing Area 5, a 15-cent over-order premium is to end August 1.

The reduction in premium is a result of a petition and various recommendations to the PMMB by various farm organizations, dairy cooperatives, milk companies, some dairy farmers and the PMMB staff.

Testimony was presented to the PMMB during a May 25 public hearing.

During the hearing, the Pa. Association of Milk Dealers and several others testified that the premium should be immediately reduced from 80 cents to 50 cents, mostly citing a competitive disadvantage with out-of-state milk being shipped in-state.

Others called for less of a reduction, while some offered that the premium should be raised.

However, during the three months that the over-order premium is scheduled to be reduced, milk market forecasters predict the basic milk price to rise, somewhat offsetting the reductions.

According to Leon Wilkinson, chairman of the PMMB, "Since 1988 the PMMB has mandated that a premium be added to fluid milk prices to assist dairy farmers in overcoming drought, floods, and other difficult market conditions.

"The premium has been a leader in the Northeast United States in obtaining better Class I prices for our deserving farmers," he said.

According to the release, in 1994, Pennsylvania dairy farmers received an average of $14 per hundredweight for Class I milk while farmers in Ohio and New York received an average of $13.30, New Jersey dairy farmers got $13.80, and Maryland producers received $13.70.

Surrounding states are currently paying Class I premiums ranging up to 40 cents per cwt.

Fluid milk Class I sales in Pennsylvania have decreased by 2.8 percent from 1994 to 1994, according to the PMMB facts. Also cited by PMMB in the release was testimony from one Pennsylvania dairy that it lost more than 500,000 pounds of milk sales to out-of-state competition primarily because of the premium.

Another testified that it lost sales of about 15 million pounds over three years.

Robert Derry, a member of the board representing consumers, said, "When Class I sales are lost in Pennsylvania, utilization usually goes to Class II, Class III, or Class III-A, resulting in a lower amount being paid to Pennsylvania farmers."

Wilkinson and Derry agreed that the decision to lower the premium is in the best interest of the dairy farmer in the long run, according to the news release.

·"We want to make sure that our producers are being taken care of, but we do not want to place Pennsylvania milk at a competitive disadvantage. It is our hope that by lowering the premium to 50 cents we will be able to remain competitive," Wilkinson said.

"Be assured," Derry said, "the PMMB will closely monitor the movement of milk in and out of Pennsylvania, and any other conditions that could have an adverse (sic)effect on the Pennsylvania dairy farmer."

In a related news release from the Pennsylvania State Grange, Brenda Shambaugh, the Grange legislative director, said, "The Grange had testified that the overorder premium should be reduced from 80 cents ... to 50 cents ... because of out-of-state milk was pouring into Penusylvania processing plants and hurting our own producers.

"We credit the board for having the fortitude to reach this difficult, but financially prudent, decision."
