Northeast, and generally unchanged elsewhere. The market tone was steady on the larger sizes, and steady to fully steady on lighter weights. Demand was mixed, ranging light to good, best where featured and into vacation areas. Supplies of jumbos were adequate to tight, large mostly adequate and available, and mediums and smalls were adequate to barely adequate. Breaking stock supplies were mostly adequate for the lackluster demand; the undertone was steady. Light type hen supplies were limited, yet sufficient for processing requirements.
