Pennsylvania Society that has 3,072 members.
Many of these members began attending meetings with their mothers and grandmothers. The tradition continues to be passed on. Karen Gulatta, Myerstown, attended the convention with her 6-month-old daughter. Karen said, "I wasn't much older than this when I started attending Farm Women meetings with my mother. Karen's mother is Joan Dunmore of Myerstown, who also attended the convention.

Nancy Bennet, vice president; Susan Hawley, second vice president; Eunice Reist, secretary, and Fern Hitz, treasurer.
Members who are 80 years old received Farm Women pins. Honored were Peg Nolt, Mary Blouch, Lillian Hauck, and Mary Brajkovich.
Two 90-year-old members, Ellen Brandt and Agnes Moot, were unable to attend the convention but will be given Farm Women pins later.
A special offering was taken to help with medical expenses of farm family Bob and Lori Shuey who had a 3-month premature baby born weighing 1 1/2 pounds.

Officers selected for two-year terms are Eileen Keller, president;

Becoming a Farm Women member passes from one generation to another. When Joan Dunmore, right, first became a member, she took her daughter Karen with her to meetings. Now married, Karen continues the tradition by bringing her 6-month-old daughter Katelyn Gulatta to the convention.
