LOU ANN GOOD Lancaster Farming Staff

NEFFSVILLE (Lancaster Co.) _ Since Debbie Landis was named both Lancaster County and Pennsylvania poultry ambassador, she has become known for her advice regarding poultry: "Eat Up! There's nothing better!'

Debbie takes her own advice to heart. "Our family has always liked cating poultry, but we eat even more since I became the ambassador," she said.

Piqued by an interest in the variety of ways to prepare poultry, Debbie is always looking for new recipes. An experienced cook, she often prepares the dishes herself.

Now that friends and family know that she has perfected her omelet-making skills, Debbie often has requests to flip omelets in the air.

"It took two hours of practice to learn how to do that," said Debbie who now has the knack for flipping

One of the reasons that Debbie enjoys using poultry in cooking is the ease and variety available. She especially likes using frozen chicken breasts, which can be defrosted quickly in a microwave oven.

A senior at Lancaster Mennonite High School, Debbie manages to squeeze in poultry promotions among school activities such as student life and faculty editor for the school yearbook and as a member of the National Honor Society. She is preparing a videotape of her playing the keyboard to submit for acceptance in a musical tour with a youth mission team.

A world traveler, Debbie just returned from a two-week visit to Kenya and Tanzania, Africa where she participated in a safari and visited both modern and tribal communities.

After high school graduation, Debbie plans to attend either a Christian college in New England or Eastern College in Philadelphia, where she will study communications and sociology.

Whatever her future holds, her time spent as a poultry ambassador will no doubt affect her eating habits for a lifetime.

"I found a lot of wonderful poultry recipes," she said.
