

Aged Holstein Wins Supreme Title At Lebanon Area Fair

(Continued from Page A28)

Holstein

In the 4-H division Holstein show, Timothy Vail, Lebanon, showed his bred and owned senior 2-year-old Dalee-Bred Counselor Po to win senior and grand champion honors.

The 4-H reserve senior and grand champion Holstein was 4-year-old Weaverline Rambo Nan, owned by Melonica Kauffman, of Lancaster. A spring yearling heifer calf of Kauffman's Nan, M-DGK Astre Naoima, was named junior champion of the 4-H division.

The reserve junior champion was a fall heifer shown by Chanelle Horst, of Newmanstown.

In the FFA division, in addition to Bomgardner's senior and grand champion, his showed a 3-year-old for reserve senior and serve grand champion.

Scott Nolt showed a winter calf to win the junior championship, while Karen Nolt's fall calf was named reserve junior champion.

The open division Holstein show of the Lebanon Area Fair was to be held after newspaper deadline, with more than 200 animals expected to be shown. The colored breed shows include all three divisions.

Ayrshire

Daryl Maulfair showed the open and 4-H senior and grand champion Ayrshire, while Shawn and Karen Hernley, of Lebanon, showed the open division reserve senior and reserve grand champion, 4-year-old Bonnie Brae

Cinnamon.

Daryl's parents, Dale and Pattie, showed the junior champions of the open show. Pattie's Conebella Corben's Radiance, a winter yearling, was named junior champion, while Dale's spring yearling, Maulfair Acres Johnny Gilly was named reserve junior champion.

In the 4-H division, Daryl's sister Jennifer Maulfair showed the reserve senior and reserve grand champion, also a junior 2-year-old, Masonic-Homes Welcome Rebecca. Jennifer also showed the reserve junior champion, a spring yearling, Maulfair-Acres Nampa Brittany.

The 4-H junior champion Ayrshire was a winter calf showed by Merritt Hernley.

Brown Swiss

In the Brown Swiss breed show, Alicia Mase's 4-year-old Alice won both the open and 4-H senior and grand champion titles.

The open division reserve senior and reserve grand champion was an aged cow, Pheasant Ridge Marie, owned by Anthony Mase.

The open junior champion Brown Swiss was a fall calf, Meadow Hill Jade Afton-ET, owned by Garrett Mase, while the reserve junior champion was a winter calf, Heilinger Bab Noces Nellie, owned by Bruce Heilinger, of Newmanstown.

The 4-H reserve senior and grand champion Brown Swiss was a junior 2-year-old, DML Simon Snowstorm Sarah, owned by Amy Moyer, of Womelsdorf.

Anthony Mase showed the 4-H junior champion, a fall calf Meadow Hill Jade Aubrie-ET, and the 4-H reserve junior champion, a spring calf Meadow Hill Jade Audrey-ET.

The FFA division senior and grand champion Brown Swiss was a dry 4-year-old cow, Meadow Hill Jade Alison, owned by Garrett Mase. The FFA reserve senior and reserve grand champion was an aged dry cow, Irons Boomster, owned by Karen Nolt, of Lebanon.

Garrett also showed the FFA junior champion, a fall heifer calf, Meadow Hill Jade Afton-ET, while Karen showed the reserve junior champion, a summer yearling, Country Path Marrietta.

All the Mase family champions, except for the reserve grand champion, were bred by Alicia.

Guernsey

In the Guernsey breed, the open and 4-H division senior and grand champion, were bred by Alicia.

(Turn to Page A31)

From the left, Lebanon County Dairy Princess Alisha Myers and Lebanon Area Fair Queen Amy Musselwhite stand with Melonica Kauffman who holds the halter of her 4-H senior and grand champion Holstein, while Timothy Vail holds the halter of his reserve senior/grand champion.

From the left, Dale Maulfair holds the halter of his open division reserve junior champion Ayrshire, while Pattie Maulfair holds the halter of her junior champion, Amber Hernley holds the halter of her family's reserve senior/grand champion, and Daryl Maulfair holds the halter of his senior and grand champion. Also shown is Judge Dale Oler, Lebanon County Dairy Princess Alisha Myers and Miss Lebanon Area Fair Amy Musselwhite.

Showing the 4-H junior champion Holsteins of the Lebanon Area Fair are, from the left, Melonica Kauffman with the junior champion, and Chanelle Horst with the reserve junior champion.

From the left, Miss Lebanon Area Fair Amy Musselwhite stands with Lebanon County Dairy Maid Amanda Martin who holds the halter of her tied-for-second place bred-and-owned Holstein, while county Lil' Dairy Miss Melissa Bashore stands in front, Amy Habecker holds her tied-for-second champion, while Daryl Maulfair holds his champion best bred and owned animal, and is flanked by Lebanon County Dairy Princess Alisha Myers.

From the left, Laura Heilinger holds the halter of the reserve junior champion Brown Swiss of the Lebanon Area Fair, while Garrett Mase holds the halter of his junior champion.