ATTENTION FARMERS
Please don't get carried away by filling your silo with silage that is too wet. It is important that your distributor is in good condition and set right for even distribution. Too much wet silage or separation in your silo can cause your silo to fall over or make it lean over. Check your silo & see if silo is a safe structure to fill. Deterioration of concrete also can cause your silo to fall over. REMEMBER your silo will not fall over when empty, only when full. Also be careful with all silage gases this year.
