

Brother, Sister Capture Market Goat Show At Manheim

MANHEIM (Lancaster Co.) — Brother and sister can often work like a team — and they did so at the Manheim Community Farm Show Wednesday afternoon, picking up grand and reserve market goat.

Chad Fisher, 9, showed "Spots," a Nubian, to grand champion market goat at the farm show. The son of Karen and John Fisher, Manheim, Chad is in the 4th grade at Doe Run School. The goat was picked from the light heavyweight division. This is his first Manheim championship.

Chad's sister, Jacee, 17, won reserve champion with her Nubian from the light heavyweight division. Jacee and her brother work on the family's Nubian farm where they care for 30 animals altogether and are gradually "building it up," said Jacee.

Show judge Dawn Camp, Welcome, Md., said the grand champion exhibited "a lot of finish over the ribs and over the shoulder."

Camp said that in picking the reserve champion, she is "looking for the finish over the ribs in particular" and was impressed by the length of the reserve champion.

Camp congratulated the exhibitors as a whole before she gave her decision. Camp said the market goats she saw at Manheim were some of the best animals "I've seen all year, in three to four different states."

A goat from the 3 years and over class that was "tremendous in body capacity and dairy character," according to Camp, won grand champion overall dairy goat Wednesday evening at Manheim. The Sonnen crossbred, Julie, was shown by Nicole Eisenhower. Nicole, 16, is the daughter of Tim and Roxanne Eisenhower, Elizabethtown.
