

Manheim Fair Youth Auction Has Many Donations

Nevin Dourte, left, representing Jacob H. Ruhl Insurance bought Cory Pfautz's reserve champion hog. Pam Lehman holds the banner.

Chad Fisher sold his grand champion goat to Greg Gehman, Manheim Auto Sales. Pam Lehman, Manheim Fair Queen, presents the banner.

The grand champion steer sold to Craig Campbell, center, from Hoss's Steak House. John Hess led Casey High's steer and Pam Lehman, the Manheim Fair Queen presented the banner.

Greg Gehman, right, from Manheim Auto Auction, purchased Ryan Donough's reserve champion steer. Pam Lehman presents the banner.

EVERETT NEWSWANGER
 Managing Editor
MANHEIM (Lancaster Co.) — The annual Manheim Fair livestock sales were held last Friday night with FFA and 4-H members finishing up their projects by selling their goats, lambs, hogs and steers.

GOATS
 In the goat sale, Chad Fisher sold his champion to the Manheim Auto Auction for $5 per pound. The reserve champion, shown by Jacey Fisher, sold to Lebanon Valley Bank for $3.85 per pound. Total for the 18 head was $4,408 with an average of $4.21.

HOGS
 The champion hog, shown by Cory Pfautz, sold to Manheim Auto Auction for $6.25 per pound, and his reserve champion sold to Jacob H. Ruhl Insurance for $3.60. In all, 97 head brought $47,340.60 with an average of $1.91 per pound.

LAMBS
 The grand champion lamb, shown by Kenton Bucher, was purchased by Stauffers of Kissel Hill Markets for $6 per pound. SKH also bought Joelynn Donough's reserve champion for $5 per pound.

Thirty-five head brought a total of $9,486.60 with an average of $2.41 per pound.

STEERS
 In the beef sale, Casey High sold his grand champion to Hoss's Steak House for $4 per pound. The reserve champion, shown by Ryan Donough sold to Manheim Auto Auction for $2.00 per pound.

In all, 16 head of steers brought $33,906.35 with an average of $1.62 per pound.

DONATIONS
 A total of $7,758.55 was raised for charitable causes during the sale.

Derrick Sensenig donated his goat to the Elvin Heisey Trust Fund ($430.50) as did Manheim Auto Auction ($164.00).

Jacob H. Ruhl Insurance donated a hog purchase to the Manheim Soccer Club ($910.00).

Geoffrey Rohrer donated his hog to the Bob Delp family ($1,417.50) as did Whitman Auctioneers ($387.45.)

Stiegel Construction donated money for their hog to the Manheim Soccer Club ($369.60).

Weaver Insurance Agency donated hog to the Manheim FFA ($492.10).

CoreStates Bank donated a lamb to the Lancaster County 4-H banquet ($261.60).

Ken Witmer donated a lamb to the Manheim FFA horse judging team trip to the National Convention ($157.20).

Phil Nissley donated a lamb to Christ Children's Home ($157.20).

Casey High donated 10 percent of the proceeds from his champion steer to the 4-H Development Fund ($537.60).

Mrs. Walter Heistand donated a steer to Cobys Youth Service ($1,556.00).

Chuck Pirko, center, representing the Manheim Auto Auction bought Cory Pfautz's grand champion hog. Pam Lehman presents the banner.

Jacey Fisher sold his reserve champion goat to Lebanon Valley Bank. Pam Lehman holds the banner, and Mike Firestein and Amy Smith represented the bank.

Kenton Bucher sold his grand champion lamb to Paul Stauffer representing Stauffers of Kissel Hill Markets. Pam Lehman shows the banner.

Joelynn Donough sold her reserve champion lamb to Mike Huegel representing SKH with Pam Lehman holding the banner.

