

Corn Maze To Benefit Church

Surrounded by tall green cornstalks, curious explorers will soon wander through a large Conestoga wagon topped with CONESTOGA letters just west of Morgantown along Route 23.

This unique corn maze is located in the Conestoga Valley next to Conestoga Mennonite Church, designed and constructed by Conestoga Mennonite members for the purpose of raising funds for their new church building.

Fifteen-year-old Kathy Mast, a member of the Conestoga MYF volunteered to design this original maze on the 10-acre lot that will in the future hold the new church building. With the help of a computer, Kathy designed this interesting maze opening Friday, August 1.

Glenn Stoltzfus, a neighboring farmer, donated the corn and cross-planted it several months ago. Gary Stoltzfus, chairman of the Corn Maze project, organized volunteers to pull and hoe the short cornstalks in June to form the paths.

Then it was time to wait for the corn to grow. In spite of very little rain and no irrigation, the corn did grow and now awaits young and old to enjoy venturing through the two-acre Conestoga wagon.

To make it more challenging, Jane Stoltzfus suggested posting nine stations throughout the maze with nine words forming a Scripture verse. Persons, young and old, who complete the maze will receive a prize designed and coordinated by Janet Peachey.

Needless to say, Conestoga members are excited about sponsoring this adventure and eagerly anticipate inviting hundreds of people to join in the fun of climbing through this large Conestoga wagon in Pennsylvania's Conestoga Valley.

Open from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. Wednesdays through Saturdays every day in August (only Saturdays in September), the admission is $3 for adults and $2 for children under age 13).
