

This column is for readers who have questions but don't know who to ask for answers.

"You Ask—You Answer" is for non-cooking questions. When a reader sends in a question, it will be printed in the paper. Readers who know the answer are asked to respond by mailing the answer, which will then be printed in the paper.

Questions and Answers to this column should be addressed to You Ask—You Answer, Lancaster Farming, P.O. Box 609, Ephrata, PA 17522. Attention: Lou Ann Good.

Do not send a self-addressed, stamped envelope for a reply. If we receive the answer, we will publish it as soon as possible. Please include your phone number because we sometimes need to contact the person to clarify details. We will not publish your phone number unless you request it.

Harvest Festival Celebrates Agriculture

PENNS CREEK (Snyder Co.) — The Pennsylvania Association for Sustainable Agriculture (PASA) is preparing for its annual Harvest Festival, held at Walnut Acres Organic Farms, Saturday, Oct. 4 from 10 a.m. - 5 p.m.

The PASA Harvest Festival is an opportunity to spend a day celebrating farming and agriculture, Pennsylvania's largest industry, in a unique way, offering fun, information, and good food.

New to the festival this year is an added attraction, "Celebrate Agriculture." This area will showcase Pennsylvania foods and flowers with events such as cooking demonstrations, food tasting, flower arranging demonstrations, and educational seminars. There will be delicious home cooked foods for sale, from homemade apple pie to gourmet salsas, along with fresh produce sales. A wide variety of flower arrangements, wreaths and swags will also be for sale.

Exploring the grounds, visitors will find a broad range of activities that promise to make a spectacular day for all. Demonstrations on sheepherding, draft horse plowing, blacksmithing, and bee-keeping will take you to Pennsylvania farm life. A beautiful shady grove is the setting for country craft demonstrations. The fun continues with hayrides and buggy and pony rides. Live music by Stained Glass Window will keep spirits high, and festival goers will also delight to the strolling Celtic musician, Judy Marti.

Ongoing seminars will offer a large variety of topics ranging from how to make soap using natural ingredients, to a talk on Pennsylvania apple varieties. Visitors will have the opportunity to learn how to apply the principles of organic farming in their own farms and gardens, how to raise a culinary garden, and how to create meals using the principles of seasonal eating.

Natural food walks will take two different roads. One choice will be to discover edible wild foods on guided tours through wooded paths at the farm. The other choice is to tour the famous Walnut Acres cannery, mill, and bakery. Both tours give new insight to natural foods.

Children can enjoy the day with activities planned just for them. A special children's area will feature a hunt for buried treasure in Farmer Brown's haystack and a chance to learn about bugs, slugs, and other garden friends.

Admission is $5 for adults and $3 for ages 12-17. Children under 12 are free. All admission proceeds benefit PASA.

Walnut Acres is 60 miles north of Harrisburg. For more information or directions to the festival, contact Walnut Acres at (800) 433-3998 or PASA at (814) 349-9856.
