

Clinton Fair Posts Sale Results

MACKEYVILLE (Clinton Co.) — The 25th Clinton County Fair ended on Aug. 9 with the annual Junior Livestock Auction. The auction grossed $41,102 for 52 members from their 136 animals.

Livestock buyers purchasing animals with no personal need were resold to the packer bidder. H. J. Bierly Livestock of Mill Hall received the pigs and steers. Walter M. Dunlap of Lancaster received the goats and lambs.

The sale included rabbits, goats, lambs, steers and dairy beef. This year there was an increase in small animal projects.

The sale conducted by Fraley Auctioneer Co. started with rabbit entries. The grand champion exhibited by Nichole Fogleman, Castanea sold for $75 was purchased by Rusty Herlocher Auto Sales, Lock Haven. The reserve grand champion meat pen was exhibited by Rachel Fulger, Mill Hall sold for $80 and was purchased by Albright Feed Mill, Mill Hall. There were 13 meat pens sold with an average of $43.65.

Twenty-two exhibitors showed the 39 goats sold. Weights ranged from 37-71 pounds and price ranged from $275 - $80, averaging $109.62. The grand champion goat was exhibited by first-year member Brett Getgen, Loganton and sold to Albright's Feed Mill, Mill Hall for $225. The reserve grand champion goat was exhibited by Bailey Yearick, Mill Hall and purchased by K&L Auto Sales of Renovo and Mill Hall for $275. The champion middleweight exhibited by Ryan Danneker, Loganton and sold for $130 to Nicholas Packing Company, Loganton. The champion lightweight also exhibited by Ryan Danneker selling for $100 to Carroll Alignment, Loganton. The reserve champion middleweight exhibited by Rocco Zannella, Mill Hall, sold for $150 to H.J. Bierly Livestock, Mill Hall and the reserve champion lightweight exhibited by Kimberly Getgen, Loganton, sold for $100 to Nicholas Packing Co., Loganton.

Thirteen exhibitors showed the 22 lambs sold. Weight ranges were 74-153 pounds and sold from $135 - $475, averaging $205.23. The grand champion lamb was exhibited by Kristie Graham, Blanchard and sold to Dr. Gerald Clair, State College for $350. The reserve grand champion was exhibited by Tammy Duck, Loganton, and sold to Dave Bierly Rebersburg, for $235. The champion lightweight also exhibited by Tammy Duck sold to MacIntyre Chevrolet, Lock Haven, for $135. The reserve champion lightweight exhibited by Jodie Fox, Mill Hall, sold to Steve Shipman, Mill Hall for $210. The reserve champion middleweight exhibited by Brad Graham, Blanchard, sold to Dr. Charles Foulsham, Lock Haven, for $160. And the reserve champion heavyweight was exhibited by Kristie Graham, Blanchard, and sold to Miller Brothers Auto Sales, Mill Hall, for $225.

Twenty-four exhibitors showed and sold 48 hogs, weighing between 189-292 pounds. Prices ranged from $245 - $1,100, with an average of $338.44. The grand champion hog was exhibited by Jenn Dotterer, Mill Hall and sold to Dotterer Equipment and Stover's Sub Shop; both of Mill Hall, for $1,100. The reserve grand champion hog was exhibited by Bailey Yearick, Mill Hall, and sold for $600 to Dr. Robert Lewis, Jersey Shore. The champion middleweight also exhibited by Jenn Dotterer sold to Northeastern Farm Credit, Montoursville, for $700. The champion lightweight exhibited by Daniel Schrack, Loganton, sold for $500 to Dr. Louis Winner, Lock Haven. The reserve champion middleweight exhibited by Bailey Yearick was sold for $300 to Phillips Wood Products. The reserve champion lightweight exhibited by Angie Beck, Mill Hall, was sold for $350 to CoreStates Bank, Lock Haven.

Purchaser Dotterer Equipment, Mill Hall. From left, Misty Frank, Cindy Walizer with Kyra and Karl Walizer with Mike, Erica Miller, fair queen runner-up with Jenn Dotterer, exhibitor of the grand champion hog.

Fourteen beef members chose between dairy beef and a beef breed steer to sell one animal. The beef steers ranged from 965 - 1,445 pounds averaging $1,293.75. The grand champion steer was exhibited by Brad Graham, Blanchard, and sold for $2,600 to MacIntyre Chevrolet, Lock Haven. The reserve grand champion was exhibited by Kristie Graham, Blanchard, and sold for $2,000 to Albrights Feed Mill, Mill Hall. The champion heavyweight was exhibited by Angie Beck, Mill Hall and sold for $1,250 to Nicholas Packing Co., Loganton.

The dairy beef steers ranged from 1,000 - 1,245 pounds, averaging $858.33. The grand champion was exhibited by Kari Brungard, Mill Hall, and sold for $1,025 to Bierly's Store, Rebersburg. The reserve grand champion was exhibited by Zeke Brungard, Mill Hall, and sold for $900 to Jersey Shore Livestock Auction, Jersey Shore and Centre Hall. The champion middleweight was exhibited by Mitchell Nihart, Mill Hall, and sold for $875 to Nyman's Trucking, Mill Hall. The champion lightweight was exhibited by Brian Miller, Mill Hall, and sold for $775 to Eddie Strouse Plastering, Mill Hall.

Winners Named At Ephrata Swine Show

In the hog show that opens the Ephrata Fair on Tuesday night, Eric Ober, 16, Manheim won grand champion honors with his 254-pound light heavyweight champion.

Jenny Hoover, 16, of Denver won reserve grand champion with her 252 pound entry that followed the grand champion in class. Hoover also had the medium weight champion and Travis Donough won reserve. Ryan Zimmerman showed the lightweight champion Chelsea Hoover the reserve. In the heavyweight division Cory Pfautz had the champion and Jimmy Zimmerman had the reserve champion.

The top placings are as follows: Lightweight, 220-230 lbs., 1. Chelsea Hoover; 2. Derick Bollinger; 3. Andy

(Turn to Page D7)

Eric Ober showed the grand champion at the Ephrata Fair swine show.

Erica Miller, fair queen runner-up, Darlene and Dave Bierly of Bierly's Store, Rebersburg with Kari Brungard, exhibitor of the grand champion dairy beef.

Erica Miller, fair queen runner-up, Bill MacIntyre III of MacIntyre Chevrolet, Lock Haven and Brad Graham, exhibitor of the grand champion steer.

Kristie Graham with her grand champion lamb, Erica Miller, fair queen runner-up, and Dr. Gerald Clair, State College, purchaser.

Ephraim Stoltzfus and Rich Albright of Albright's Feed Mill, Mill Hall, and Erica Miller, fair queen runner-up with Brett Getgen, exhibitor of the grand champion goat.