daughter of Bonnie Kaucher, Clouser Rd., Mechanicsburg. Amy is starting her fifth year in the county-wide club and is currently the club's new reporter. This past year she kept records and showed six project animals. Her animals were selected Grand Champion Jersey and Reserve Grand Champion Jersey at the 1997 4-H Dairy Roundup. This past year Amy participated as a member of our county's Junior Dairy Bowl Team. Amy received a Blue Ribbon for her efforts at Speakout Night.

Merle Miller Memorial Award — This year, Jason Nailor, son of Joann and Dennis Nailor, Mechanicsburg, was presented the Merle Miller Memorial award. Jason has completed seven years of project work, however, this is only his second year in the dairy club. Jason kept records and showed three project animals this year. He exhibited the reserve champion

Guernsey and reserve champion Milking Shorthorn at this year's 4-H roundup. Jason attended eight of the eight meetings held this current year. Jason was a member of the senior Cumberland County 4-H dairy bowl team that participated at the regional level and at State Days, Penn State. He showed his animals at district and state junior dairy shows.

4-H Dairy Leaders were recognized for their years of faithful service to the club program ranging from 1 to 32 years. John Leib, Carlisle was recognized by the county 4-H program for 30 years of service, and Tim Smith, Shippenburg for five years as leader.

Special Recognition was given to two members of the 4-H Dairy club for completing 11 years of club work. Those recognized include John Leib Jr., Carlisle and Brad Varner, Newville.

Vets Plus Announces Addition

KNAPP, Wis. — Vets Plus, Inc. manufacturer of animal health and nutrition products, announces the addition of Ken Everson to its marketing and sales staff.

Everson's responsibilities will be to ensure that the maximum effort is put into the sales of Vets Plus, Inc. products in the eastern United States. He will also develop and implement on going sales training to sales representatives.

Everson, territory manager, has come to Vets Plus, Inc. with a strong background in animal nutrition and agricultural marketing. He has been with FS/Growmark System for the past 12 years.

Amy Kaucher, right, receives the 4-H achievement award from Kathy Waiton.
