

Waterloo Club Highlights Restoration

KINZERS (Lancaster Co.) — The Waterloo Boys of Southeast Pennsylvania is an all two-cylinder John Deere Club whose goal is the promotion and restoration of old two-cylinder John Deere tractors and equipment.

Though Deere and Company had its engineers working at tractor development in the early 1900s, it wasn't until 1918 when they purchased the Waterloo Tractor Company and became a major participant in the tractor sales arena.

The Waterloo Boy tractor was considered to be one of the best built tractors, if not the best built one of the 1900s. Thus, when several men started our two-cylinder club, they chose the name The Waterloo Boys of Southeast Pennsylvania.

Approximately four years ago, the club decided to raise money. Ever since 1993, the club has been restoring one two-cylinder John Deere per year and selling raffle tickets on them, which has turned out to be the club's biggest source of income to date.

Last year, the club repaired a model 40 tricycle, started selling tickets in the spring and continued selling at various shows throughout the summer, until the fall Harvest Show at Rough and Tumble. At the contest, the winner was Ben

Haines of Rising Sun, Md.

Proceeds from those first five tractors played a major role in the club's ability to purchase the dream tractor, a Waterloo Boy. Eventually the Waterloo Boys will restore the tractor. This year's raffle tractor is a beautiful 1938 Unstyled John Deere B. If anyone is interested in learning more about the Waterloo Boys Club, or would like to join, contact the club at Waterloo Boys, Box 9, Kinzers, PA 17535.

This 1938 Unstyled John Deere Model B is the 1998 raffle tractor. The winning ticket will be drawn Oct. 10 at Rough and Tumble.

Cargill Monsanto Announce Joint Venture

"The Cargill and Monsanto relationship marks the expansion of how our customers gain new value from the benefits of crops enhanced through biotechnology," said Monsanto Chairman and CEO Robert Shapiro. "Together we'll deliver new solutions based on the rapid development of the next generation of plant traits—those that enhance the quality and economics of feed and processed grains—to markets around the world."

The joint venture will focus on applying biotechnology to improve feed products for animals raised for human consumption, such as pork, beef, poultry and fish. It also will develop and market feed additives grown in crops using biotechnology.

The venture also will create and market crops with traits designed to reduce costs and improve yields for the wet and dry milling, oilseed crushing and refining, feed compounding, and other processing industries.

Other details about the joint venture have not been finalized. While the initial agreement involves animal feed and grain processing, Monsanto and Cargill will explore future opportunities to expand the partnership into agriculture and food.
