

Lebanon Awards Scholarships

LEBANON (Lebanon Co.) — Three County 4-H members were awarded $1,000 scholarships during a recent meeting of the Lebanon County 4-H Board of Directors. Nathan Arnold, Lebanon; Dana Blouch, Lebanon; and Jessica Watson, Newmanstown were chosen based on their 4-H experience, community involvement and academic achievement.

Nathan Arnold is the son of Joe and Ruth Ann Arnold, Mine Road, Lebanon. He will be a freshman at the University of Pittsburgh this fall majoring in science.

A member of the Avon-East Lebanon 4-H Community Club, Nathan has participated in the 4-H program for the past 11 years. He has held various club offices and received the Honor 4-H'er award for six years. A senior at Cedar Crest High School, Nathan is active in the German Club and his church youth group.

"Being a 4-H member for the past 10 years has given me many opportunities to develop new skills and a positive attitude," Nathan said in explaining his 4-H experience.

Dana Blouch is the daughter of Allen and Jean Blouch, Lincoln Avenue, Lebanon. She will be a freshman art education major at Messiah College in the fall.

A member of the 4-H Friends Community Club and the 4-H Board of Directors, Dana is enrolled in foods and nutrition, cross-stitch, ceramics, and leadership projects. Dana has been a 4-H camp counselor and attended 4-H State Achievement Days and National 4-H Congress. A senior at Cedar Crest High School, Dana is president of the Key Club and a member of several other high school clubs. She is also very active in her church youth group.

Dana credits the leadership skills she acquired through 4-H projects, serving as a teen leader, and holding various club offices to her successful experiences in school and community activities.

Jessica Watson is the daughter of Jeffrey and Laura-Jean Watson, Newmanstown. She will be a freshman Bible and Youth Ministry major at Lancaster Bible College this fall. A member of the Busy Bees 4-H Club, Jessica has served on the 4-H board of directors as a teen representative and been a 4-H teen leader for the past four years. Jessica was a member of the National 4-H Congress leadership team and participated in state and national Cooperative Education Institutes. She is the current Lebanon Area Fair Queen. A home-schooled senior, Jessica is active in various music and dance groups and has won several speech contests. She is director of the Joy Noise music group.

"4-H has enhanced my personal development and taught me to share the skills I have learned with others. I now want to invest in the lives of youth, because someone cared enough through 4-H to invest in mine," Jessica said regarding her 4-H experience.

Each 4-H member received a $1,000 check and a certificate from the Lebanon County 4-H Trust Fund. Youth between the ages of 8 and 19 are eligible to join the 4-H program which encourages "learn-by-doing" projects and activities. ANSWER — R. Fleckenstein, Woodstown, N.J., wanted information on a double barrel Paragon Model CS 12 gauge shot gun that he has. How old is it and it's value? Thanks to Philip Wiegler, Pottstown, who writes that according to Jane's Guns Recognition Guide, the name Paragon was a store brand name used by a hardware or sporting goods store that had its trade mark stamped on guns made by another manufacturer. Guns sold under the Paragon trade mark were actually made by the J. Stevens Arms Company, which was purchased by Savage Arms Corp. in 1920.

According to Fjestad's Blue Book of Gun Values, 18th edition, the Savage/Stevens model CS shotgun was an inexpensive, utilitarian-grade firearm. There is no collector interest, so its value would depend on shooting condition. Values on guns of this type typically range between $50 to $175, depending on rarity and condition. Approximately 87,500 model CS shotguns were made from 1926 to 1945, so it is not rare.

ANSWER — For Mae Stancill of Bel Air, Md., Eli Jay Esh, Ronks, sends the words to the following song. He writes that he has remembered it from hearing his mother and older sisters singing it.

Mother's Only A Sleeping

I left my old home, way back in the mountains/My mother was called, to Heaven one day/They carried my mother, up to the graveyard/Everything's lonesome since she went away.

Chorus:

Mother's not dead, she's only a sleeping/Just patiently waiting for Jesus to come/The birds will be singing, while mother lies sleeping/They will sing lower as the grave sinks away.

Nothing seems right around the old homeplace/Even the place where we used to play/ I still love my old home, way back in the mountains/Everything's changed, since she went away.

Mother was good, and now she's in heaven/She was the best pal a friend ever had/I love my old home, way back in the mountain/Since Mother is gone our hearts are so sad.

ANSWER — M. V. Runkles III answers Ruth Erb's question by writing that he mixes powdered sugar with Borax in order to get ants to eat it.
