National Grain Market Report

USDA-MO Dept Ag Market News

DAILY NATIONAL GRAIN SUMMARY

Wheat bids turned higher due to some overnight export sales to South Korea and USDA lowering their estimate for 98/99 carry-over stocks to 819 million bushels. Corn and soybean bids fell moderately lower with only a few export sales on the books this week and good growing weather in the Midwest adding pressure. USDA's estimate for corn production was actually lower than the July report. Wheat steady to 9 cents higher. Corn 3 to 5 cents lower. Sorghum 7 cents lower. Soybeans steady to 7 cents lower. Earlier estimates of 868 million bushels for wheat stock carry-over was lowered to day by the USDA to 819 million bushels, pushing wheat bids higher. Light export demand for all commodities this week. Soybean meal prices were lower again as demand continued slow. Corn production estimate was forecast at 9.92 billion bushels, the second largest crop on record. Additional weakness stemmed from profit taking on the Board.
