

Traditionally a supreme over all species is selected among market animals at the E-town Fair. But this year, supreme champions over all breeds were selected in both the market and the non-selling animals. The award was given in honor of George Mentzler, nationally known Polled Hereford breeder and owner of Salunga Acres, who died about one year ago. Selling her steer, which was selected as the supreme champion market animal over all species, is Jill Hoffines of Marietta. Hoss's Steak and Seahouse represented by Rob Billet and children Shawndy and Jordan and friend Shawn pay $1,450 for the 1,221-pound black Angus. A hefty trophy was presented to Heather Brubaker who exhibited Great View B-Star Mabel, a 5-year-old Holstein. The Holstein was selected as supreme champion over all other species at the Fair. Fair Queen Sarah Wolgemuth holds the commemorative plaque and Frank Graybill, judge, holds the trophy. More coverage on the sale, sheep and dairy shows will appear in next week's issue.
