National Grain Market

St. Joseph, MO

USDA-MO Dept Ag Market News
DAILY NATIONAL GRAIN SUMMARY
Wheat and soybean bids turned lower after yesterday's rally, corn bids showed some strength. Wheat steady to 5 cents lower. Corn steady to 2 cents higher. Sorghum steady. Soybeans 5 to 8 cents lower. Wheat bids were mostly lower, today, pressured by some profit taking on the Boards. Uncertainty about the donation program to Russia and the status of the loan rates in the AG budget bill, weighed on bids. Export demand has been slow this week for wheat. Corn bids were steady to slightly higher as rains are in the forecast this week for the Corn Belt areas. Tempering gains, however, is rapid harvest progress with 43 percent of the crop reported to be in bins. Farmer selling has slowed and basis firmed. Good export sales earlier in the week helped support corn bids. Lower soybean bids were due also to some profit taking on the Boards. Weaker meal bids also pressured bean bids as record high crush rates have resulted in a surge in meal supplies. Early week export sales have limited declines.
