Two Grant Programs

For Northeast Producers

BURLINGTON, Vt. — Applications are available for the Northeast Region Sustainable Agriculture Research and Education (SARE) Program's 1999 farmer grants.

Northeast SARE offers two kinds of grants to producer-initiated and managed projects that will advance knowledge about alternative production and marketing practices.

"These grants provide a wonderful opportunity for farmers interested in evaluating new ideas," said Northeast SARE Program Coordinator Fred Magdoff. "Many farmers and growers have had an idea but didn't have the time or the resources to fully test it. Here's a program which helps farmers to try something new that may end up significantly helping their farms."

Through the seven-year-old Farmer/Grower Grant Program, SARE helps producers conduct farm-based experiments to answer their own production and marketing questions. Farmer/Grower Grant proposals may address any food, non-food or forest crop production or marketing issue. Project activities may include small research trials, educational activities and demonstrations.

Through its two-year-old SEED (Special Evaluation, Education and Demonstration) initiative, Northeast SARE will provide grants to producers willing to farm-test selected, alternative practices. Previous SARE-supported research has shown that these practices improve farm profitability, reduce pesticide use, protect soil, and/or enhance quality of life.

The goal of both programs is to develop and refine systems and practices that promote stewardship of natural resources, prevent agricultural pollution and improve farm profitability.

Northeast SARE will award up to $150,000 through its producer grant programs. Grants will be awarded on a competitive basis to farmers in the 12-state region. In the past, grants have ranged from $300 to about $8,000.

Reviewers will give preference to proposals that clearly define local sustainable agriculture problems or issues and propose solutions. Projects must be led by one or more producer, include a professional technical advisor (an extension agent, for example) and outline a plan for sharing gained information with others in the community.

Any producer within the Northeast is eligible to apply; however, proposals based at research or educational institutions are not eligible for farmer grants. Proposals from those institutions are eligible for funding through SARE's two other grant programs. (For more information on those programs, contact the SARE office at 802-656-0471.)

The Northeast region includes Connecticut, Delaware, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Vermont, West Virginia, and Washington, D.C.

All farmer grant applications must be postmarked by Dec. 11, 1998. Decisions will be announced in March 1999.

To obtain a grant application, visit our website at <http://www.uvm.edu/~nesare/>, call (802) 656-0471 or write Northeast SARE at 10 Hills Building, University of Vermont, Burlington, VT 05405-0082.
