President Lincoln Addresses N.Y. Farm Bureau Delegates

SYRACUSE, N.Y. — New York Farm Bureau President John Lincoln gave his annual address to nearly 500 member-delegates and guests attending the 42nd annual meeting in Syracuse.

During his 25-minute presentation, the dairy farmer from Ontario County gave highlights of the year and insight as to what he sees for the future of agriculture in New York State.

Lincoln stated, I am very proud to be the president of this great organization. No matter where I go across this large state of ours and no matter whom I talk with, the respect and admiration that others have for this organization never wavers. To carry the message of New York agriculture, on behalf of the farmer tilling the land, to the halls of our state capitol and to Washington is an honor that few will ever know. I have always treasured that opportunity and have never taken the responsibility lightly."

Lincoln also spoke about the many storms that have plagued the farmers of this state and the financial help that New York Farm Bureau sought and won on their behalf. In addition, he highlighted the elimination of the second year of the property tax reform program, estate tax changes, workers' compensation reform measures, and increases in membership as highlights of the year.

Lincoln told the crowd that New York Farm Bureau has taken several steps toward education the non-farm public. He cited in particular New York Farm Bureau's Foundation for Agricultural Education and the recent television commercial which reminds viewers that farmers feed all of us every day.

Lincoln also warned the attendees that, "Today there exists a situation quite possibly worse than any storm Mother Nature could muster; the Food Quality Protection Act, which, if implemented improperly, could devastate our industry. If implemented improperly, the FQPA could reduce our chemical availability by 95 percent. Many of us would go out of business. Period."

He said, "For agriculture to survive and grow, farms need to be profitable; we need better markets—nationally and globally; we need less governmental regulation and more cooperation, both voluntary and incentive-based programs; and we need a public that understands the contributions of the agriculture industry and supports farmers."

Lincoln was elected to his third term as president of the 29,260 member family organization.

Young Farmers To Meet

BERNVILLE (Berks Co.) — The Bernville Fire Company will be the site of the Tulpehocken Adult Young Farmer Association safety session, Tuesday, June 8, at 7:30 p.m.

Eugene Brubaker has arranged for the company members to address with the association the response activity that occurs as a call comes to them. They will also share their experience and equipment.

Park on the fire company lot off Rt. 183 or in back of the fire house on Third Street. Bring a friend or interested person.

Ice cream and snacks will be supplied. Strawberries and topping are needed.
