

Holstein Foundation Names Interns

BRATTLEBORO, Vt. — Amy Hagenow of Reedsville, Wis., and Deanna Stanek of Fall Creek, Wis., have been hired as communications interns for the Holstein Foundation.

Hagenow is currently attending the University of Wisconsin-Madison, where she will be a senior, double majoring in dairy science and agricultural journalism.

She is involved in many activities on campus including the Badger Dairy Club, the Association of Women in Agriculture, the UW-Madison Dairy Cattle Judging Team, the College of Agricultural and Life Sciences Student Council, the National Agri-Marketing Association and Collegiate FFA. She is also serving as chairman of the Wisconsin Junior Activities Committee.

Hagenow is from Chris-Carl Farms, a registered Holstein dairy farm in Reedsville, Wis. She is actively involved in all aspects of the farm and has received various awards and scholarships. She was recently named a semi-finalist in the 1999 Distinguished Junior Member Contest.

Her intern duties will include communications with and publicity coordination of Junior activities, Junior Advisory Committee communications and assisting in the coordination of the National Junior Convention in Boise, Idaho, June 18-22.

She will also represent the Foundation at various events throughout the summer.

Stanek will be a senior at the University of Wisconsin-River Falls and plans on graduating in May, 2000, with a bachelor of science degree in agriculture marketing communications with a minor in animal science.

At school, she is active in the UW-RF Dairy Club and Delta Theta Sigma Little Sisters.

Last summer Deanna worked as the public relations intern with the Wisconsin Holstein Association. In this position she represented the organization at over 20 dairy functions throughout the summer; attending twilight meetings, shows and other
