

Farm Heritage Days Sept. 25-26

WOODSTOCK, Md. — Members of The Howard County Antique Farm Machinery Club, many of them seasoned Howard County farmers, are preparing for its 4th Annual Howard County Farm Heritage Days, Sept. 25-26 here at Mt. Pleasant Farm, about five miles west of historic Ellicott City.

The farm, a 232-acre tract, had been in the Brown family for eight generations until it was deeded to The Howard County Conservancy, Inc. in 1993. The original farmhouse and nine historic outbuildings, including a working blacksmithing shop, have been preserved, as has the bicentennial tulip poplar and the gardens surrounding the house.

Club members will demonstrate how they threshed wheat, cracked corn, shelled corn, chopped fodder, made apple cider, and used a blacksmith shop to repair tools and fashion iron to be used on the farm.

Visitors can ride around the farm on a wagon, view antique farm machinery, cars and trucks, browse through flea market booths, eat good food, and listen to country music. On Sunday morning at 10 a.m., a live bluegrass gospel church service will be held.

Proceeds from this event will be used to establish a Farm Heritage Museum in Howard County. The event allows the farmers to share their love and knowledge of historic farm life in Howard County.
