

258 Keystone Degree Recipients Mark FFA's 72nd Year With 'Signature Of Success'

Melinda Erin Martin

Melinda Erin Martin, Conococheague FFA member, enjoys meeting "all of the new people that I see from across the state and country," she noted.

Melinda, 17, daughter of Marcus and Loretta Martin, Mercersburg, plans to attend college and major in, she noted, "something related to agriculture."

Melinda has served as chapter chaplain, student adviser, secretary, and county FFA president. She is vice president.

Melinda has served on the community service and leadership committees. She completed dairy herd projects and received several awards, including the national ag sales team, national dairy judging team, and a gold medal in public speaking. She received the Greenhand, chapter, and county degrees.

Adam McAnlis

Four-year Mohawk FFA member Adam McAnlis enjoys the various FFA activities, "especially the contests," he wrote, "because you get to compete with and meet new people."

Adam, 17, son of Dale and Faith McAnlis, plans to attend the Pennsylvania College of Technology or work as a carpenter.

Adam has served as chapter chaplain and is vice president. He has served on the program of activities committee.

In addition, Adam has completed several projects, including market steer and on-farm work experience. He received an award in the state ag mechanics contest and in the Big E ag mechanics contest. He also received his Greenhand and chapter degrees.

Joshua P. McCleester

FFA is attractive to members such as Joshua P. McCleester because "I can be involved in competitions in subjects that interest me," he wrote.

Joshua, 17, is the son of Barbara and Glenn McCleester, Port Matilda. The Tyrone Area FFA member plans to attend college for forestry.

Joshua has served as chapter secretary. He has also served on the community service, SAE, and leadership committees. He completed projects in poultry, woodworking, gardening, lawn mowing, and wildlife conservation.

In addition, he received several awards, including the South Central Star in specialized agriculture and the second place state forestry team. He also received his Greenhand and chapter degrees.

Mike McClellan

FFA teaches you "how to cooperate with others," noted four-year Bellwood Antis FFA member Mike McClellan.

Mike, 17, son of Mike and Debbie McClellan, plans to "possibly go to technical school."

Mike has served on several committees, including leadership, recreation, community service, earnings and savings, scholarship, and public relations. In addition, he has completed home garden and work experience projects.

Mike received a gold and two silver for project books and a scholarship award in addition to his Greenhand and chapter degrees.

Daniel McMichael

FFA membership has meant a lot to four-year Manor FFA member Daniel McMichael.

"I enjoy all the opportunities that come along," Daniel wrote. "For example, leadership in the FFA — you get the chance to take control and become someone that people will look up to, believe in, and respect. As well as leadership, responsibility is another opportunity that comes along. Without both, you can't get far. But in the FFA, you get them and they can take you places."

Daniel, 17, is the son of Steve and Julie McMichael, Pequea. Daniel plans to attend either Bradley Academy for the Visual Arts or Steven's Trade, as well as starting up a breeding operation on the home farm.

Daniel has served as chapter chaplain and is Lancaster County sentinel. In addition, he has served on various committees, including Make-A-Wish, petting zoo, and awards night.

Daniel has completed a three-year market steer project, a two-year market lamb project, and completed work with Angora rabbits and capons. He received several awards, including specialty animal production, computers in ag, chain capon, chain lamb, showmanship, and champion rabbit.

Daniel received his Greenhand, chapter, and Red Rose degrees.

Andrew McMullen

Andrew McMullen enjoys the "forestry, wildlife, and other CDEs I get to participate in," he wrote. "It shows what I've learned."

Andrew, 17, is the son of Leonard and Susan McMullen, Morgantown. The four-year Twin Valley

FFA member is chaplain. He plans to attend Penn State to major in forestry.

Andrew completed wildlife conservation projects. In addition, he served on the following committees: third grade tour, Food For America, homecoming float, swim party, bulb sale, citrus sale, Ag Day Breakfast, FFA Week Cookout, Christmas tree recycling, and others. He competed in forestry contests, winning several first-place awards.

Jennifer McWilliams

FFA is enjoyable for the many ways to meet "new people, because it creates a lot of new friendships and lets me learn more about the lifestyles of other FFA members," wrote four-year West Snyder FFA member Jennifer McWilliams.

Jennifer, 17, is the daughter of Lester and Barb McWilliams, Beavertown. Jennifer plans to become a dairy farmer.

Jennifer has served as chapter secretary,
