

Future College Students Explore Ag Sciences At Annual Open House

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.)—Picking a college is a tough decision, and future agriculturalists, food scientists and biological researchers will get help and advice when Penn

State's College of Agricultural Sciences holds its seventh annual open house for prospective students on Saturday, March 18 from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. in the Agricultural Sciences and Industries (ASI) Building on the University Park campus. "Selecting a college is hard for anyone," said Marianne Fivek, assistant professor of agricultural and extension education and undergraduate recruitment coordinator. "It's especially confusing for a high school student who hasn't settled on clear career goals. Our Open House gives students interested in the agricultural sciences an informal, relaxed setting where they can explore their college plans. It's also an opportunity for families to visit with deans, professors, current students and other prospective students.

"Last year's Open House drew about 125 families, or around 350 people, and we were able to give them personal attention," Fivek adds. "About 50 faculty and staff from the college are there to answer questions about the agricultural sciences, and about university life. Representatives from the Ag Advocates student organization and the Ag Student Council also attend."

Attendees can learn about careers in agricultural and related fields and consider the college's 18 undergraduate majors. The event will begin with an informational fair at 8 a.m., followed by a general session at 9 a.m. and academic advising sessions at 10 a.m.

Exhibits will highlight academic departments, student organizations, ROTC, housing and food services and other aspects of university life. A special luncheon and advising session for students who already have started their education at a location other than University Park will be held at noon in 101 ASI.

Families and individual students can see college facilities and explore the campus through tours that will include food science laboratories, animal science facilities and the School of Forest Resources. A panel discussion on careers in agriculture will be held in 101 ASI Building at 1:30 p.m.

After the Open House, families can visit the University Creamery, the Penn State Bookstore, the Penn State University Libraries and the Palmer Museum of Art. Penn State Housing and Food Services will offer special meal deals for both lunch and dinner.

Dairy Of Distinction Seeks Nice Looking Farms

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — Do you take pride in maintaining your dairy farm? Does your farm project an attractive, wholesome image to consumers? If so, the Dairy of Distinction Program of Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey, and Vermont is looking for you.

The Northeast Dairy Farm Beautification Program that oversees the Distinction program was first started in 1983 in Pennsylvania. The Dairy of Distinction recognize the hard work and dedication of the farmers who maintain attractive farms.

The purpose of the program is to instill a greater sense of confidence in the wholesomeness of dairy products, thus increasing sales.

Farms that apply are judged on the roadside appearance of building, grounds, and surroundings, since this is what our dairy product consumers observe as they drive by the farm.

The cleanliness of the barnyard, feed areas, and manure management are all areas taken into consideration when a team of judges takes a look at your farm from the road. Your milk cooperative or handler will be contacted to approve your milk quality.

Judging is conducted during the month of May. Award winners are announced during local June Dairy Month activities.

Del-Jame Farm near Hamburg in Berks County is a 1999 Dairy of Distinction winner. Since the program began in 1987 in Pennsylvania, more than 700 farms have been given this farm beautification award. Entries are now being received for the year 2000 program. Take time to enter your farm now.

To qualify for consideration, you must be actively dairy farming and shipping milk.

spective state secretary by April 15, 2000.

The program is conducted with advice and help from the Penn State Cooperative Extension.

HOW IS YOUR FARM SCORED?

Northeast Dairy Farm Beautification Program Inc.

Awards will be based upon neatness, good maintenance, and other factors that can be controlled by the farmer. Attractive background scenery should not be weighted heavily in judging. All judging observations should be made from a vehicle at one or more points on an adjacent public highway. If the farm is off the road, the judging will take place from the nearest lane. Judging should give equal consideration to old wood construction and new construction of metal or concrete block.

The award program may be used for subsequent advertising or promotion activities for dairy products or dairy farming. Farmers who apply for the award agree that if selected they will cooperate with these promotion activities and make all reasonable efforts to maintain both the exterior and interior of their properties in an acceptable manner.

HOW THE APPLICATION WORKS

The owner or operator of the dairy farm should sign the application and send it to the Dairy of Distinction state secretary by April 15.

HOW THE JUDGING WORKS

Judging teams will visit farms during the month of May. Farms will be judged each year as the award is presented on an annual basis. Any dairy failing to maintain appearance standards will be asked to remove their signs. The Dairy of Distinction signs remain the property of the committee, not the property of the dairy farmer. All farms must achieve a compliance score of 90 percent on their Dairy of Distinction score card. Your cooperative or milk handler will be contacted to approve your milk quality.

RULES FOR THE DAIRY OF DISTINCTION AWARD

- 1) The Dairy of Distinction sign remains property of the Northeast Dairy Farm Beautification Committee.
- 2) The post and bracket shall be supplied by and maintained by the dairy farmer. It is suggested that a wood post 4' x 4' x 12' or iron pipe 2' x 12' can be used. - 3) Signs shall be displayed in front of the dairy at roadside. An attractive post or bracket, or other frame, shall be used to display the sign. No more than three signs should be displayed from the sign frame or post, and all shall be of a style, general size, and quality comparable to the Dairy of Distinction sign. Sign should be secured on all sides to avoid wind damages.
