

'Feisty' Pig Turns Into E-town Champion Hog

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff
ELIZABETHTOWN (Lancaster Co.) — Lynn Brandt watched a feisty pig, since it was born, race to supreme champion Tuesday night here at the Elizabethtown Fair.

A homebred Hampshire/Yorkshire/Duroc gilt, weighing 262 pounds, caught the attention of show judge Dave Holloway, Glen Rock, at the event.

Lynn, 15, daughter of Linette and Dale Brandt, Middletown, said this was her first championship at E-Town. The Lower Dauphin High School sophomore is a member of the Lower Dauphin 4-H Livestock Club.

Lynn said she walks the heavyweight champion, a gilt, which she picked to exhibit at E-Town, around the pen everyday. From the moment it was born, she noted, it was feisty. She also won reserve champion at the Dauphin County 4-H Roundup. She also plans to show at Farm Show.

Reserve was a repeat for Amy Becker, 19, daughter of Marlin and Nancy Becker, Manheim. The 1999 Manheim Central High School graduate is enrolled at the York Technical Institute where she is studying culinary arts and restaurant management.

Amy, who won reserve overall champion last year at the fair, showed a 248-pound light heavyweight champion, a

Hampshire crossbred. Amy purchased the gilt from Frank Feeser, Taneytown, Md.

Amy said she exhibited at county roundup and plans to show at Denver, New Holland, and Manheim.

Show judge Dave Holloway said a hog, to be champion, "has to catch the judge's eye." Also, it is a certain "style" the hog must have, including eye appeal.

There were 70 hogs to sell (68 in show) and 30 exhibitors. Following is a list of show placings.
