

Rico Tops E-town Show

EVERETT NEWSWANGER
Editor
ELIZABETHTOWN (Lancaster Co.) - While the cow numbers were down at the Elizabethtown Fair Dairy Show on Thursday, the quality was not. And rising to the top as supreme champion of the youth show, was the stylish, black, Wrico Milan Rico shown by Blake Brubaker. The three-year-old was also grand champion of the open and youth Holstein show. Blake also showed the junior champion.

Blake's parents, Lowell and Debra Brubaker showed the reserve grand champion of the open show with Hilltop-Heritage L Tamie-ET, a four-year-old. Justin Wivell had the reserve champion in the youth Holstein show with Donegal Creek Mandel Amy. Nelson Bomgardner showed the reserve junior champion.

In the Jersey show, Andrew Dice had the grand champion with Hollywood Galaxy Elvira, an aged cow and Harold and Audrey Dice had the reserve grand champion with Blue Mountain Trustee Teresa.

Stephanie Donough had the junior champion Jersey, and Jacob Spatz had the reserve junior champion.

Jennifer Zinn had the only Ayrshire in the show and took all honors with Masonic Homes Demand Grace.

In the fitting and showmanship contest, Jennifer Zinn was named supreme champion. She was 1st place in the 13-15 class followed by Timothy Donough and Blake Brubaker. In the 16 & over class, Crystal Brubaker was first followed by Andrew Dice and Justin Wivell. Tiffany Donough was first in the 10 to 12 class. Candice Brubaker was 1st in the 9 & under class followed by Laken Hoffer and Janel Zinn.

Some of the top placings are as follows:

West to a Montana beef ranch to work for a year before attending the University of Montana.

Nicole Hess, a sophomore at Elizabethtown, garnered second place in the intermediate showmanship class. Both John and Nicole transferred to Elizabethtown for the agriculture curriculum the school offers.

Chris Hess, an eighth grader at Donegal Middle School, took home first place in the intermediate showmanship class, along with a first in the lightweight market steer class.

Tim Livingston, from Dover, judged the fair's beef classes. He raises registered Angus cattle on his family farm. After judging on 4-H and FFA teams, Livingston participated on the Penn State judging team. He judges four to five shows during fair season.

"There was good competition the whole way through," said Livingston. "There was depth to the classes and excellent showmanship."
