One Look Was All It Took

"DMI made a big difference in my neighbor's corn the year before I could get on top of the grain bins and look across at his field and really see a difference, his corn was already jumping out when the ground was cold and wet. That sold me on it."

Bruce Leverton
 Woodbury Farms Enterprises, Queenstown, MD

Bruce Leverton farms around 2300 acres of grain, and with an operation that size he needed a tillage tool that would perform. Unlike conventional tillage tools, The DMI eco-til 2500 aggressively twists and rolls the soil while laterally fracturing the hardpan. This provides excellent fracture of compaction to increase water absorption and air exchange for better nutrient flow up and down the soil profile and root system. The result? Warmer soil in the spring for earlier planting and more uniform crop germination.

"Last summer I bought a 7 shank eco-til 2500 from Hooper and I've been impressed - I really like the job it does. The tool is heavy enough, and it definitely helps with compaction," says Bruce.

And Hooper has the knowledge, service and parts support you need to make sure your DMI eco-til 2500 keeps going strong. "When your dealer is as committed to the business as much as Hooper is, it really makes a difference," says Bruce. I am always able to get what I need, when I need it. I'm really happy with what they have done for me."

The combination of DMI's eco-til 2500 and Hooper, Inc. will help you get more bushels out of your field and that means more money in your pocket!
