returned them as her mother thought they were cherries — I guess they looked like that from a distance.

I've always grown two kinds of sugar peas. The seed came from my mother-in-law and is now available from the Heirloom Seed Project at the Landis Valley Museum. Risser's Sickle Peas will grow to a height of six-feet if there are good weather conditions. So, they definitely need a fence. The Risser Early Sugar Peas are a ' shorter and will bear peas in May. Four or five hundred-foot rows of peas gave me more than I needed for our family.

My girls never enjoyed picking them as much as I did. Thus, they would ask to go to the house and prepare meals. At 8- or

YORK (York Co.) — "Common Thread," the newsletter of the York Quilter's Guild has announced plans for a National Quilting Day Workshop scheduled for Saturday, March 16 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. The guild will gather at St. Paul's Lutheran Church on Trinit Road (Route 616) off Route 30 in West York. The public is invited to learn about the joys of quilting.

National Quilting Day is officially designated for quilter's around the nation to celebrate their passion for quilting by coming together to spend the day working on quilts or quilt-related projects. In the past, the guild has worked on baby blankets that were donated to a local charity. This year, it is anticipated that the members will work on "UFOs" (unfinished objects), a special personal project as well as items that will be sold at "A Celebration of Quilts 2002," the guild's quilt show, scheduled for June 29-30.

10-years-old, they learned to put the meat on the stove first, peel potatoes, and then cook the vegetables. Baking they really enjoyed, and they begged to do it everyday. Even our boys baked pies, cookies, and cakes.

So, while it is still winter, I'll try to finish the braided rug that I'm making and maybe embroider another pair of pillow cases.
