Fall Championship Show Sept. 24

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The 2002 Pennsylvania Holstein Fall Championship Show will be Tuesday, Sept. 24, at 9 a.m. here at the Farm Show Complex, Harrisburg.

Jeff Butler, Holstein breeder from Springfield, Ill. will judge the Fall Championship Show. The Pennsylvania Holstein Association has more than 360 animals entered for the show, making it one of the association's largest fall championship shows ever.

Along with recognizing class winners in both the open and youth show, the association will be announcing the 2002 All-Pennsylvania winners, based on placings from the spring show, regional shows, and the fall show.

Two additional highlights at the fall show will be the selection of the 2002 Keystone Futurity winner. There are 42 animals eligible to show that were entered as heifers with payments made as the animals matured. The Futurity class has the winner receiving a check for more than $925 in prize money.

The association will also select the George M. Knight Jr. Total Performance Award winner. This award is based on the cow's production and show ring placing. The award is presented by the Knight Family in honor of Knight's dedication to the show ring.

Holstein Members To Raise Funds

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The Pennsylvania Junior Holstein Association will be selling toasted cheese sandwiches again this year at the All-American Dairy Show.

The booth will be located in the Dairy Activities Center near the dairy antique show. The Junior Association uses this as a fund-raiser and also as a food service to the exhibitors and spectators attending the show.

The sandwiches sell for $1 each. The Pennsylvania Holstein Association will also be selling calf raffle tickets at the All-American to again generate funds to support junior members and their activities across the state. Paul and Ellen Hartle, Mammoth Spring Farms, Centre County have generously donated a March 2002 heifer calf to the association for the calf raffle. The calf is sired by Mr. America, an EX-90 Storm son from Paul's famous EX-94 Miss America cow. The dam and grandam of the calf both have high production records.

Raffle tickets will be available for purchase at the toasted cheese sandwich booth as well.
