slaughter steer buyers as prices trended weak to 1 00 lower Slaughter heifers were also noted as trading weaker, although there was not much early in the week to compare them to Slaughter sold a full 100-200 higher as the late week buyer attendance and demand both continue to remain very good. There were over 600 cows on offer and if you didn't know any better you would have thought there were only 60 as trading was very active Boneless beef values continue to be very bullish as the cow carcass cutout value is almost over the 95 00 mark Fleshier slaughter buils sold near steady when compared to the light test on Tuesday, however, leaner Yield Grade 1's sold with a higher undertone due to the continued good demand. The reported supply included 34 percent steers, 6 percent heifers, 44 percent cows, 4 percent bulls, with the balance feeder cattle

Lancaster County Weekly Cattle

New Holland, Pa. Report Supplied By USDA

Friday, March 7, 2003 CATTLE CAI VES 1765 LAST WFFK 2670 2014 2382 LAST YEAR 1719 Compared to last week, slaughter steers sold

50-1 00 lower on the two early week runs, with prices trending a full 1 00-3 00 lower to close out the week Most producers and buyers have been keeping a close eye on the CME live cattle futures as we look ahead at the summer months And many held a small hope that the Board would adjust itself to the cash trade like it had done all winter Instead the Western feedyards moved their steers at mostly 77 00 this week, which is a full 2 00-3 00 lower, and in turn set the tone for the rest of the country. Needless to say, the next few months look very bearish as the April contract closed at 74 60 on Thursday, with the June and August contracts at the Merc settling from 66 80-69 67 respectively. Most producers in Lancaster County will be hitting the calculator pretty hard over the months to come, once again figuring breakevens instead of being able to bank on the 78 00-81 00 steer market they were beginning to become accustomed to However, it is also important to note the lower quality of the runs in the county thus week. The bulk of the snow is melting off very rapidly as rains continue to fall. Therefore cattle are coming through the barns with a good amount of mud and fill on them, with buyers discounting accordingly The buyers trying to send the high Choice and Prime quality cattle to their Kosher kills had a tough time getting much of anything put together this week, as despite the mud and fill the finish wasn't there either Holstein steers sold weak to fully 100 lower Holstein demand is still there, it was just hard for the spotted stock to overcome the pressure being put off by the slaughter steers and heifers Slaughter heifers sold with a lower undertone on the mixed runs Slaughter cows opened up the week trending weaker, only to turn around on another outstanding late week run to trade a full 1 00-2 00 higher. Buyer attendance was key this week as usual, and when the cow cutout value was higher and the buyers were there, demand was excellent. This week's reported supply included 38 percent steers, 6 cent heifers, 46 percent cows, 4 percent bulls, with the balance feeder cattle
