

The Waynesburg Republican

WAINESBURG, PENNA. Wednesday, Oct. 9, 1867.

Hon. Geo. V. Lawrence, ever a thorn in Democracy's side, has opened the wound afresh, and, according to the last issue of the Messenger, has forever placed a barrier between himself and his constituents of this county.

See in what he has offended: "At a Radical meeting in Lawrenceville, Allegany county, Pa., on the evening of the 24th ult., George V. Lawrence, member of Congress from this district, was present and in the course of his remarks, offered a gross and gratuitous insult to the people of Greene county."

Mr. Lawrence said: "Go into Greene county, and you will find something to eat if you are hungry, and something to drink if you are dry, for there are plenty of still-houses in that locality, (laughter), and it is upon such as that the Democracy depends. They pay but little attention to education there, and in such places the Democrats have a majority. This is the case in reference to the low places in New York city, and in other localities. Where you find ignorance and crime you find Democrats."

Without attempting to apologize for, or in any way screen Mr. Lawrence, for this insult upon the intelligence of our citizens, we cannot but express our surprise at the audace seemingly excited in the breast of our "chaste" neighbor. Why does he take up the gauntlet so readily, in this instance, in defence of the character and learning of Greene county? Mr. Lawrence but gave expression to the sentiment which this would-be vindicator, and his party, have all along labored to impress upon the public abroad. They are champions of still-houses and the enemies of school-houses! They are ever ready with a word of comfort for the illicit distiller, but let a school-teacher offend their sense of propriety, and immediately they put in motion a vicious go-round intended to damage him and his profession. If the readers of the Messenger haven't had memories, they will recollect a recent article upon the College Commencement, noticed by us before. This was noticed elsewhere, a Democratic exchange, of an adjoining county, seized it as a morsel of hate against the enlightenment and advancement of our country and gave it the following gratuitous notice:

"POLITICAL COLLEGE.—The commencement exercises of Waynesburg (Greene county) College came off last week. The Messenger informs us that the most of the exercises on the occasion were mere 'political harangues.' The same paper adds: 'Too many of the literary institutions of our country have become the hot beds of Radicalism, and perhaps none more so than the institution of this place.'"

This is the opinion of our institutions that they would have circulated abroad—"little!" Now, we ask our readers, and the readers of the Messenger, in all candor, isn't there a vast deal of dissimulation in their defence of your intelligence and morality? They would disable your institutions of learning and at the same time repel an assault upon your intelligence! The hungry pack that this assails your common sense should be taught better!

"NIGGER" SUFFRAGE.—Our choleric, but "exquisite" neighbor, over the way, must have taken an emetic last week and thrown up nearly all the "nigger" he had on his stomach. We hope he feels relieved, although we haven't the least doubt but he will be seized with another attack before the holidays are passed. To our assertion that the question rests solely with the States, and that Congress never signified its intention of forcing it upon the people by word or act, he replies, "does the Republican pretend to say that Mr. Sumner did not offer a bill in Congress, at the last session, to establish negro suffrage throughout the Northern States?" He did, but is Mr. Sumner the Congress of the United States? and was his bill not only rejected by Congress but repudiated by the leading Republicans of the land? No, it was our neighbor's desire to enforce the conviction upon the people that the present canvass involved the issue of negro suffrage and trusting to the credulity of its readers to make political capital. Would it not be as well, now that the election is over, to relieve your conscience and make an acknowledgment?

CHICAGO has been decided on as the place for holding the National Republican Convention. The time for it has not yet been fixed. General Grant is reported to have said that, although not wishing to be a candidate for the Presidency, "if it should be the will of Providence and the desire of the American people that he should be President, he would not feel at liberty to resist the one nor disappoint the other." He will be called on to "go up higher"—and he'll go!

THE TEMPORAL DOMINION OF THE POPE

The temporal dominion of the Pope is crumbling beneath the light and advancement of the age. Garibaldi, at the request of the Pope has been placed in arrest by the French Emperor, and it appears to be the signal for a general uprising of his followers. It is stated that the Italian Government will furnish no assistance to the Papal power for the suppression of an insurrection. This insures the downfall of this dynasty. The insurgents have defeated the loyal troops in an engagement in the province of Viterbo. Warm work and startling results are expected.

Mrs. LINCOLN, has scandalized herself in the eyes of the American People, by offering her wardrobe, presents from friends valued at $24,000, at auction. She represents that ingratitude and necessity compels it. Her broker in New York raised but two hundred dollars from the sale last Saturday. The people were disgusted and slow to purchase. She returns to Chicago evidently satisfied that she has not benefited herself nor gained an enviable position in the popular mind.

"SUNSET" COX, ex-Congressman from Ohio, and every where a recognized leader of Democracy, opposes the proposition of paying the National debt in paper. There will be great difference among Democrats on this question.

THE present arrangement of the mails is such that we cannot delay publication for the returns of the election. We shall give them complete as possible in our next issue. Our "rooster" has plumed himself for the occasion!

THE Legislature of Tennessee met on last Monday. The election of Gov. Brownlow to the United States Senate is generally conceded. A sweet plum for Andrew Johnson!

ELIAS HOWE, JR., inventor of sewing machines, died at Brooklyn New York, Thursday night, the 3rd inst.

VALLANDIGHAM has declared himself a candidate for the United States Senate, which is a good thing for the Republicans of Ohio.

ALBANY, N. Y. October 4.—The Democratic convention met this morning and passed resolutions pledging the Democracy to retain New York from misrule and corruption, as the first step to the restoration of the Union and constitutional Government; the demanding economy of administration; honesty in the collection, and application of the revenues, and equality of taxation and currency for the benefit of the people; denouncing the efforts of the Republican party to retain the power it has usurped by establishing negro supremacy in the South, by military force, and disfranchisement of the whites, as an outrage on Democratic principles, and an attempt to undermine and destroy the Republic; stigmatizing the refusal to submit the question of negro suffrage to the people as a cowardly evasion of the Republicans; that incapacity, corruption, legislative degradation and revenue demoralization is proof that the Republicans are incapable of governing the country calling on the Federal Government to enforce the doctrine that adopted citizens are entitled to protection opposing the the Excise Law and urging its repeal and winding up with thanks to the soldiers and sailors.

The following ticket was nominated. For Secretary of State, Honer A. Nelson, of Dutchess; Comptroller, Judge W. F. Allen, of Oswego; Treasurer, H. Bristol, of Tioga; Attorney General, M. B. Champlain, of Allegheny; Richmond, of Wayne; State Prison Inspector, Solomon Schen, of Erie; Canal Commissioner, John D. Fray, of Genesee; Judge of Court of Appeals, Martin Grover, of Allegheny.

The Republican, New York State Convention met at Syracuse, Wednesday the 25th, and nominated Gen. McKean, of Saratoga, for Secretary of State; Calvin T. Hubbard, of St. Lawrence, Comptroller; Gen. T. C. Gates, of Ulster, State Treasurer; Judge Vanocot, of Kings, Attorney General. The platform embraces an affirmation of impartial suffrage, a strongly worded protest against maladministration and corruption in the affairs of the State, and an emphatic declaration in support of Congress and its policy. Recognition is given to the services of Union soldiers, and the official conduct of Mr. Stanton. And thanks are accorded to Gov. Fenton and Senators Morgan and Conklin. A resolution was also adopted favorable to a modification of the Excise and Sunday Laws.

C. V. CULVER, of Reno, Pa., formerly member of Congress, whose failure for $4,000,000 caused such commotion, has been fully released by all the Courts, and with heroic purpose has consummated a plan to settle his debts and place his railroad schemes in living condition again.

THE largest circulation among juvenile papers, not gratuitously circulated, is enjoyed by the Youth's Companion, a paper started by Fanny Fern's father, and now edited by Mr. D. S. Ford. It has a subscription list of sixty-five thousand.

SOME PLAIN ENGLISH BY SPEAKER COLFAX

Speaker Colfax wrote a letter to the Border State Convention that met at Baltimore, last week, but it was not presented because of the absence of the person to whom it was addressed. The following is the concluding portion thereof:

"It is time to settle what is a Republican government. It is a State which enfranchises by the tens of thousands every man who bore arms to destroy the nation; and along with them every man who took official allegiance to a so-called government, which could only exist on the ruins of the Republic, and at the same time disfranchise by the tens of thousands other men who are free citizens of the United States and unmistakably loyal; if such a State has a Republican government, I would like some learned jurist to inform us what would be an anti-Republican government."

If a State whose loyalty is made odious and devotion to the Union in its darkest hours of trial is punished by ostracism, outrage and dishonor, and the bitterest enmity and bloody hostility to the Republic is the sure passport to social distinction, to public honor and to official trust, if that kind of government is the one that the United States is to guarantee, and that means, to secure, to endorse, to protect, our Revolutionary fathers must have sadly misunderstood the meaning of the language they placed so solemnly and emphatically in the Constitution. I will not insult their memories by believing it. I have the fullest faith in that Congress which has dared to defy the rebel hate and executive obloquy, and believe they will not allow such conduct to go unrebuked. It is their duty to protect loyal men everywhere, and they will do it. Smeared at and denounced for sending investigating committees South when the President's policy had ripened into that horrid crop of riots, outrages and massacres. The legislation which grew out of these investigations has been endorsed since by all who love loyalty and abhor rebellion throughout the land; and though their first duty when they reassemble will be to determine whether the recent Executive action so flagrantly defiant of the will of the people, and persistent obstruction to reconstruction by law, and a persistent defier of the expressed will of the nation; yet I cannot doubt that they will also execute that constitutional guarantee so wisely and so thoroughly that hereafter men in the Border States, as elsewhere, shall no longer realize that devotion to the country has brought upon them dishonor, tyranny, and oppression, but throughout the whole Republic every man who has proved his love of the Union, and who rejoices in its preservation, shall be adequately protected against all enemies by the power of the land he helped to save.

FROM SOUTH CAROLINA.—A correspondent writes: "Everywhere in our State Republicanism—the true liberty—is growing rapidly. Everywhere the white laboring man is filling in with the virtues of Republicanism. As soon as the nominations are made the campaign will open with much activity. In some of the districts, where the white and the colored are nearly equal in numbers, the contest will be warm."

THE following letter appears in the New York Tribune: "One of the grossest outrages ever perpetrated in this State was enacted at Chesterstown, Kent county, last week. The victim was a young man named Sullivan, who had been several days selling religious books and pictures. Although Sullivan had conducted himself in a most exemplary manner, and never once indulged in the luxury of expressing his opinion upon political questions, it was not long before he became 'suspected' of being a Radical, and the young bloods at once determined to punish and drive out the intruder. He was invited to join a party to gather fruit, clandestinely, from a neighboring orchard, and after arriving there, by previous arrangement, persons who had been stationed in the orchard fired blank cartridges, when all the party except Sullivan fell, pretending, mortally wounded. Frightened out of his wits, Sullivan ran for his life. The next day the matter being explained he accepted it as a joke. A few days afterward a young man named William Houston called at Sullivan's hotel and invited him to ride with him into the country. The invitation was accepted, and they drove to the house of Benjamin Beck, Jr., some five or six miles distant, where they remained until after tea.

After nightfall Houston proposed that they return, which was done by an out-of-the-way road leading through a large wood used as a camp ground. In this wood they were met by H. W., alias Doc Vickers, Milner Jones, and Thomas Wicks, who forcibly took Sullivan from the carriage, tied him to a tree, blackened him, destroyed his clothing, and beat and bruised him in a most unmerciful manner, and putting a pistol to his head, threatened to blow out his brains unless he promised to leave the next day before ten o'clock, and not to divulge anything about the affair. To all the entreaties of Sullivan for help Houston replied that he was "on parole" and could not assist him. Left in this condition, Sullivan made his way to town the next day, and lodged complaint before a justice of the peace, who held the parties to bail for their appearance at the next term of Kent county Court. Now, that your readers may understand who these parties are, and judge of the prospect of having justice meted out to them, I need only say that Vickers is the son of General George Vickers, the leader of the conservative rebel party in that county, and the prospective Chief Justice of her court. Houston is the son of Dr. Houston, ex-Register of Wills, a leading rebel, and nephew of Richard Hyndon, a prominent lawyer of the same politics. Jones was a member of Mosby's Cavalry. Wicks is a brother of Joseph A. Wicks, a prominent lawyer, a member of the late Constitutional Convention, and prospectively an associate judge of the same circuit, and each and all are "pinkies" of Southern chivalry, and members of the "first families" of Chesterstown.

Now, with this influence at their back, and the judges, clerks, jurors, and every one connected with the administration of justice approves if not

THE HARRISBURG TELEGRAPH

The Harrisburg Telegraph, says Duvel Paul Brown, who has made more failures in politics than any man of his age in the State, who has been all things to all men, a sort of literary Paul Clifford, a legal, poet, a spendthrift and a political weathercock, has been hired by the Copperheads of Philadelphia to puff Sharswood.

After the rebel newspapers of Georgia and Alabama continue to appeal to the Southern whites not to vote at the coming election for a Convention to reorganize the States, it is not surprising that the following notice should appear in the Philadelphia Record:

PHILADELPHIA, October 4.—United States Marshal Elmker, with Lieutenants Fagan and Fields in command of eighty-six marines from the navy yard, went to-day to Port Richmond to take possession of illicit whisky stills and capture the parties engaged in roasting the officers yesterday. The marines having their muskets loaded, over-awed the still-owners, and the Marshal's officers were not disturbed except by threats and groans. The work is yet going on, and over one hundred illegal stills will be broken up before night.

The Harrisburg Telegraph, says Duvel Paul Brown, who has made more failures in politics than any man of his age in the State, who has been all things to all men, a sort of literary Paul Clifford, a legal, poet, a spendthrift and a political weathercock, has been hired by the Copperheads of Philadelphia to puff Sharswood.

After the rebel newspapers of Georgia and Alabama continue to appeal to the Southern whites not to vote at the coming election for a Convention to reorganize the States, it is not surprising that the following notice should appear in the Philadelphia Record:

PHILADELPHIA, October 4.—United States Marshal Elmker, with Lieutenants Fagan and Fields in command of eighty-six marines from the navy yard, went to-day to Port Richmond to take possession of illicit whisky stills and capture the parties engaged in roasting the officers yesterday. The marines having their muskets loaded, over-awed the still-owners, and the Marshal's officers were not disturbed except by threats and groans. The work is yet going on, and over one hundred illegal stills will be broken up before night.

The Harrisburg Telegraph, says Duvel Paul Brown, who has made more failures in politics than any man of his age in the State, who has been all things to all men, a sort of literary Paul Clifford, a legal, poet, a spendthrift and a political weathercock, has been hired by the Copperheads of Philadelphia to puff Sharswood.

After the rebel newspapers of Georgia and Alabama continue to appeal to the Southern whites not to vote at the coming election for a Convention to reorganize the States, it is not surprising that the following notice should appear in the Philadelphia Record:

PHILADELPHIA, October 4.—United States Marshal Elmker, with Lieutenants Fagan and Fields in command of eighty-six marines from the navy yard, went to-day to Port Richmond to take possession of illicit whisky stills and capture the parties engaged in roasting the officers yesterday. The marines having their muskets loaded, over-awed the still-owners, and the Marshal's officers were not disturbed except by threats and groans. The work is yet going on, and over one hundred illegal stills will be broken up before night.

The Harrisburg Telegraph, says Duvel Paul Brown, who has made more failures in politics than any man of his age in the State, who has been all things to all men, a sort of literary Paul Clifford, a legal, poet, a spendthrift and a political weathercock, has been hired by the Copperheads of Philadelphia to puff Sharswood.

After the rebel newspapers of Georgia and Alabama continue to appeal to the Southern whites not to vote at the coming election for a Convention to reorganize the States, it is not surprising that the following notice should appear in the Philadelphia Record:

PHILADELPHIA, October 4.—United States Marshal Elmker, with Lieutenants Fagan and Fields in command of eighty-six marines from the navy yard, went to-day to Port Richmond to take possession of illicit whisky stills and capture the parties engaged in roasting the officers yesterday. The marines having their muskets loaded, over-awed the still-owners, and the Marshal's officers were not disturbed except by threats and groans. The work is yet going on, and over one hundred illegal stills will be broken up before night.

The Harrisburg Telegraph, says Duvel Paul Brown, who has made more failures in politics than any man of his age in the State, who has been all things to all men, a sort of literary Paul Clifford, a legal, poet, a spendthrift and a political weathercock, has been hired by the Copperheads of Philadelphia to puff Sharswood.

After the rebel newspapers of Georgia and Alabama continue to appeal to the Southern whites not to vote at the coming election for a Convention to reorganize the States, it is not surprising that the following notice should appear in the Philadelphia Record:

PHILADELPHIA, October 4.—United States Marshal Elmker, with Lieutenants Fagan and Fields in command of eighty-six marines from the navy yard, went to-day to Port Richmond to take possession of illicit whisky stills and capture the parties engaged in roasting the officers yesterday. The marines having their muskets loaded, over-awed the still-owners, and the Marshal's officers were not disturbed except by threats and groans. The work is yet going on, and over one hundred illegal stills will be broken up before night.

The Harrisburg Telegraph, says Duvel Paul Brown, who has made more failures in politics than any man of his age in the State, who has been all things to all men, a sort of literary Paul Clifford, a legal, poet, a spendthrift and a political weathercock, has been hired by the Copperheads of Philadelphia to puff Sharswood.

After the rebel newspapers of Georgia and Alabama continue to appeal to the Southern whites not to vote at the coming election for a Convention to reorganize the States, it is not surprising that the following notice should appear in the Philadelphia Record:

PHILADELPHIA, October 4.—United States Marshal Elmker, with Lieutenants Fagan and Fields in command of eighty-six marines from the navy yard, went to-day to Port Richmond to take possession of illicit whisky stills and capture the parties engaged in roasting the officers yesterday. The marines having their muskets loaded, over-awed the still-owners, and the Marshal's officers were not disturbed except by threats and groans. The work is yet going on, and over one hundred illegal stills will be broken up before night.

The Harrisburg Telegraph, says Duvel Paul Brown, who has made more failures in politics than any man of his age in the State, who has been all things to all men, a sort of literary Paul Clifford, a legal, poet, a spendthrift and a political weathercock, has been hired by the Copperheads of Philadelphia to puff Sharswood.

After the rebel newspapers of Georgia and Alabama continue to appeal to the Southern whites not to vote at the coming election for a Convention to reorganize the States, it is not surprising that the following notice should appear in the Philadelphia Record:

PHILADELPHIA, October 4.—United States Marshal Elmker, with Lieutenants Fagan and Fields in command of eighty-six marines from the navy yard, went to-day to Port Richmond to take possession of illicit whisky stills and capture the parties engaged in roasting the officers yesterday. The marines having their muskets loaded, over-awed the still-owners, and the Marshal's officers were not disturbed except by threats and groans. The work is yet going on, and over one hundred illegal stills will be broken up before night.

The Harrisburg Telegraph, says Duvel Paul Brown, who has made more failures in politics than any man of his age in the State, who has been all things to all men, a sort of literary Paul Clifford, a legal, poet, a spendthrift and a political weathercock, has been hired by the Copperheads of Philadelphia to puff Sharswood.

After the rebel newspapers of Georgia and Alabama continue to appeal to the Southern whites not to vote at the coming election for a Convention to reorganize the States, it is not surprising that the following notice should appear in the Philadelphia Record:

PHILADELPHIA, October 4.—United States Marshal Elmker, with Lieutenants Fagan and Fields in command of eighty-six marines from the navy yard, went to-day to Port Richmond to take possession of illicit whisky stills and capture the parties engaged in roasting the officers yesterday. The marines having their muskets loaded, over-awed the still-owners, and the Marshal's officers were not disturbed except by threats and groans. The work is yet going on, and over one hundred illegal stills will be broken up before night.

The Harrisburg Telegraph, says Duvel Paul Brown, who has made more failures in politics than any man of his age in the State, who has been all things to all men, a sort of literary Paul Clifford, a legal, poet, a spendthrift and a political weathercock, has been hired by the Copperheads of Philadelphia to puff Sharswood.

After the rebel newspapers of Georgia and Alabama continue to appeal to the Southern whites not to vote at the coming election for a Convention to reorganize the States, it is not surprising that the following notice should appear in the Philadelphia Record:

PHILADELPHIA, October 4.—United States Marshal Elmker, with Lieutenants Fagan and Fields in command of eighty-six marines from the navy yard, went to-day to Port Richmond to take possession of illicit whisky stills and capture the parties engaged in roasting the officers yesterday. The marines having their muskets loaded, over-awed the still-owners, and the Marshal's officers were not disturbed except by threats and groans. The work is yet going on, and over one hundred illegal stills will be broken up before night.

THE HARRISBURG TELEGRAPH

The Harrisburg Telegraph, says Duvel Paul Brown, who has made more failures in politics than any man of his age in the State, who has been all things to all men, a sort of literary Paul Clifford, a legal, poet, a spendthrift and a political weathercock, has been hired by the Copperheads of Philadelphia to puff Sharswood.

After the rebel newspapers of Georgia and Alabama continue to appeal to the Southern whites not to vote at the coming election for a Convention to reorganize the States, it is not surprising that the following notice should appear in the Philadelphia Record:

PHILADELPHIA, October 4.—United States Marshal Elmker, with Lieutenants Fagan and Fields in command of eighty-six marines from the navy yard, went to-day to Port Richmond to take possession of illicit whisky stills and capture the parties engaged in roasting the officers yesterday. The marines having their muskets loaded, over-awed the still-owners, and the Marshal's officers were not disturbed except by threats and groans. The work is yet going on, and over one hundred illegal stills will be broken up before night.

The Harrisburg Telegraph, says Duvel Paul Brown, who has made more failures in politics than any man of his age in the State, who has been all things to all men, a sort of literary Paul Clifford, a legal, poet, a spendthrift and a political weathercock, has been hired by the Copperheads of Philadelphia to puff Sharswood.

After the rebel newspapers of Georgia and Alabama continue to appeal to the Southern whites not to vote at the coming election for a Convention to reorganize the States, it is not surprising that the following notice should appear in the Philadelphia Record:

PHILADELPHIA, October 4.—United States Marshal Elmker, with Lieutenants Fagan and Fields in command of eighty-six marines from the navy yard, went to-day to Port Richmond to take possession of illicit whisky stills and capture the parties engaged in roasting the officers yesterday. The marines having their muskets loaded, over-awed the still-owners, and the Marshal's officers were not disturbed except by threats and groans. The work is yet going on, and over one hundred illegal stills will be broken up before night.

The Harrisburg Telegraph, says Duvel Paul Brown, who has made more failures in politics than any man of his age in the State, who has been all things to all men, a sort of literary Paul Clifford, a legal, poet, a spendthrift and a political weathercock, has been hired by the Copperheads of Philadelphia to puff Sharswood.

After the rebel newspapers of Georgia and Alabama continue to appeal to the Southern whites not to vote at the coming election for a Convention to reorganize the States, it is not surprising that the following notice should appear in the Philadelphia Record:

PHILADELPHIA, October 4.—United States Marshal Elmker, with Lieutenants Fagan and Fields in command of eighty-six marines from the navy yard, went to-day to Port Richmond to take possession of illicit whisky stills and capture the parties engaged in roasting the officers yesterday. The marines having their muskets loaded, over-awed the still-owners, and the Marshal's officers were not disturbed except by threats and groans. The work is yet going on, and over one hundred illegal stills will be broken up before night.

The Harrisburg Telegraph, says Duvel Paul Brown, who has made more failures in politics than any man of his age in the State, who has been all things to all men, a sort of literary Paul Clifford, a legal, poet, a spendthrift and a political weathercock, has been hired by the Copperheads of Philadelphia to puff Sharswood.

After the rebel newspapers of Georgia and Alabama continue to appeal to the Southern whites not to vote at the coming election for a Convention to reorganize the States, it is not surprising that the following notice should appear in the Philadelphia Record:

PHILADELPHIA, October 4.—United States Marshal Elmker, with Lieutenants Fagan and Fields in command of eighty-six marines from the navy yard, went to-day to Port Richmond to take possession of illicit whisky stills and capture the parties engaged in roasting the officers yesterday. The marines having their muskets loaded, over-awed the still-owners, and the Marshal's officers were not disturbed except by threats and groans. The work is yet going on, and over one hundred illegal stills will be broken up before night.

The Harrisburg Telegraph, says Duvel Paul Brown, who has made more failures in politics than any man of his age in the State, who has been all things to all men, a sort of literary Paul Clifford, a legal, poet, a spendthrift and a political weathercock, has been hired by the Copperheads of Philadelphia to puff Sharswood.

After the rebel newspapers of Georgia and Alabama continue to appeal to the Southern whites not to vote at the coming election for a Convention to reorganize the States, it is not surprising that the following notice should appear in the Philadelphia Record:

PHILADELPHIA, October 4.—United States Marshal Elmker, with Lieutenants Fagan and Fields in command of eighty-six marines from the navy yard, went to-day to Port Richmond to take possession of illicit whisky stills and capture the parties engaged in roasting the officers yesterday. The marines having their muskets loaded, over-awed the still-owners, and the Marshal's officers were not disturbed except by threats and groans. The work is yet going on, and over one hundred illegal stills will be broken up before night.

The Harrisburg Telegraph, says Duvel Paul Brown, who has made more failures in politics than any man of his age in the State, who has been all things to all men, a sort of literary Paul Clifford, a legal, poet, a spendthrift and a political weathercock, has been hired by the Copperheads of Philadelphia to puff Sharswood.

After the rebel newspapers of Georgia and Alabama continue to appeal to the Southern whites not to vote at the coming election for a Convention to reorganize the States, it is not surprising that the following notice should appear in the Philadelphia Record:

PHILADELPHIA, October 4.—United States Marshal Elmker, with Lieutenants Fagan and Fields in command of eighty-six marines from the navy yard, went to-day to Port Richmond to take possession of illicit whisky stills and capture the parties engaged in roasting the officers yesterday. The marines having their muskets loaded, over-awed the still-owners, and the Marshal's officers were not disturbed except by threats and groans. The work is yet going on, and over one hundred illegal stills will be broken up before night.

The Harrisburg Telegraph, says Duvel Paul Brown, who has made more failures in politics than any man of his age in the State, who has been all things to all men, a sort of literary Paul Clifford, a legal, poet, a spendthrift and a political weathercock, has been hired by the Copperheads of Philadelphia to puff Sharswood.

After the rebel newspapers of Georgia and Alabama continue to appeal to the Southern whites not to vote at the coming election for a Convention to reorganize the States, it is not surprising that the following notice should appear in the Philadelphia Record:

PHILADELPHIA, October 4.—United States Marshal Elmker, with Lieutenants Fagan and Fields in command of eighty-six marines from the navy yard, went to-day to Port Richmond to take possession of illicit whisky stills and capture the parties engaged in roasting the officers yesterday. The marines having their muskets loaded, over-awed the still-owners, and the Marshal's officers were not disturbed except by threats and groans. The work is yet going on, and over one hundred illegal stills will be broken up before night.

The Harrisburg Telegraph, says Duvel Paul Brown, who has made more failures in politics than any man of his age in the State, who has been all things to all men, a sort of literary Paul Clifford, a legal, poet, a spendthrift and a political weathercock, has been hired by the Copperheads of Philadelphia to puff Sharswood.

After the rebel newspapers of Georgia and Alabama continue to appeal to the Southern whites not to vote at the coming election for a Convention to reorganize the States, it is not surprising that the following notice should appear in the Philadelphia Record:

PHILADELPHIA, October 4.—United States Marshal Elmker, with Lieutenants Fagan and Fields in command of eighty-six marines from the navy yard, went to-day to Port Richmond to take possession of illicit whisky stills and capture the parties engaged in roasting the officers yesterday. The marines having their muskets loaded, over-awed the still-owners, and the Marshal's officers were not disturbed except by threats and groans. The work is yet going on, and over one hundred illegal stills will be broken up before night.

The Harrisburg Telegraph, says Duvel Paul Brown, who has made more failures in politics than any man of his age in the State, who has been all things to all men, a sort of literary Paul Clifford, a legal, poet, a spendthrift and a political weathercock, has been hired by the Copperheads of Philadelphia to puff Sharswood.

After the rebel newspapers of Georgia and Alabama continue to appeal to the Southern whites not to vote at the coming election for a Convention to reorganize the States, it is not surprising that the following notice should appear in the Philadelphia Record:

PHILADELPHIA, October 4.—United States Marshal Elmker, with Lieutenants Fagan and Fields in command of eighty-six marines from the navy yard, went to-day to Port Richmond to take possession of illicit whisky stills and capture the parties engaged in roasting the officers yesterday. The marines having their muskets loaded, over-awed the still-owners, and the Marshal's officers were not disturbed except by threats and groans. The work is yet going on, and over one hundred illegal stills will be broken up before night.

THE HARRISBURG TELEGRAPH

The Harrisburg Telegraph, says Duvel Paul Brown, who has made more failures in politics than any man of his age in the State, who has been all things to all men, a sort of literary Paul Clifford, a legal, poet, a spendthrift and a political weathercock, has been hired by the Copperheads of Philadelphia to puff Sharswood.

After the rebel newspapers of Georgia and Alabama continue to appeal to the Southern whites not to vote at the coming election for a Convention to reorganize the States, it is not surprising that the following notice should appear in the Philadelphia Record:

PHILADELPHIA, October 4.—United States Marshal Elmker, with Lieutenants Fagan and Fields in command of eighty-six marines from the navy yard, went to-day to Port Richmond to take possession of illicit whisky stills and capture the parties engaged in roasting the officers yesterday. The marines having their muskets loaded, over-awed the still-owners, and the Marshal's officers were not disturbed except by threats and groans. The work is yet going on, and over one hundred illegal stills will be broken up before night.

The Harrisburg Telegraph, says Duvel Paul Brown, who has made more failures in politics than any man of his age in the State, who has been all things to all men, a sort of literary Paul Clifford, a legal, poet, a spendthrift and a political weathercock, has been hired by the Copperheads of Philadelphia to puff Sharswood.

After the rebel newspapers of Georgia and Alabama continue to appeal to the Southern whites not to vote at the coming election for a Convention to reorganize the States, it is not surprising that the following notice should appear in the Philadelphia Record:

PHILADELPHIA, October 4.—United States Marshal Elmker, with Lieutenants Fagan and Fields in command of eighty-six marines from the navy yard, went to-day to Port Richmond to take possession of illicit whisky stills and capture the parties engaged in roasting the officers yesterday. The marines having their muskets loaded, over-awed the still-owners, and the Marshal's officers were not disturbed except by threats and groans. The work is yet going on, and over one hundred illegal stills will be broken up before night.

The Harrisburg Telegraph, says Duvel Paul Brown, who has made more failures in politics than any man of his age in the State, who has been all things to all men, a sort of literary Paul Clifford, a legal, poet, a spendthrift and a political weathercock, has been hired by the Copperheads of Philadelphia to puff Sharswood.

After the rebel newspapers of Georgia and Alabama continue to appeal to the Southern whites not to vote at the coming election for a Convention to reorganize the States, it is not surprising that the following notice should appear in the Philadelphia Record:

PHILADELPHIA, October 4.—United States Marshal Elmker, with Lieutenants Fagan and Fields in command of eighty-six marines from the navy yard, went to-day to Port Richmond to take possession of illicit whisky stills and capture the parties engaged in roasting the officers yesterday. The marines having their muskets loaded, over-awed the still-owners, and the Marshal's officers were not disturbed except by threats and groans. The work is yet going on, and over one hundred illegal stills will be broken up before night.

The Harrisburg Telegraph, says Duvel Paul Brown, who has made more failures in politics than any man of his age in the State, who has been all things to all men, a sort of literary Paul Clifford, a legal, poet, a spendthrift and a political weathercock, has been hired by the Copperheads of Philadelphia to puff Sharswood.

After the rebel newspapers of Georgia and Alabama continue to appeal to the Southern whites not to vote at the coming election for a Convention to reorganize the States, it is not surprising that the following notice should appear in the Philadelphia Record:

PHILADELPHIA, October 4.—United States Marshal Elmker, with Lieutenants Fagan and Fields in command of eighty-six marines from the navy yard, went to-day to Port Richmond to take possession of illicit whisky stills and capture the parties engaged in roasting the officers yesterday. The marines having their muskets loaded, over-awed the still-owners, and the Marshal's officers were not disturbed except by threats and groans. The work is yet going on, and over one hundred illegal stills will be broken up before night.

The Harrisburg Telegraph, says Duvel Paul Brown, who has made more failures in politics than any man of his age in the State, who has been all things to all men, a sort of literary Paul Clifford, a legal, poet, a spendthrift and a political weathercock, has been hired by the Copperheads of Philadelphia to puff Sharswood.

After the rebel newspapers of Georgia and Alabama continue to appeal to the Southern whites not to vote at the coming election for a Convention to reorganize the States, it is not surprising that the following notice should appear in the Philadelphia Record:

PHILADELPHIA, October 4.—United States Marshal Elmker, with Lieutenants Fagan and Fields in command of eighty-six marines from the navy yard, went to-day to Port Richmond to take possession of illicit whisky stills and capture the parties engaged in roasting the officers yesterday. The marines having their muskets loaded, over-awed the still-owners, and the Marshal's officers were not disturbed except by threats and groans. The work is yet going on, and over one hundred illegal stills will be broken up before night.

The Harrisburg Telegraph, says Duvel Paul Brown, who has made more failures in politics than any man of his age in the State, who has been all things to all men, a sort of literary Paul Clifford, a legal, poet, a spendthrift and a political weathercock, has been hired by the Copperheads of Philadelphia to puff Sharswood.

After the rebel newspapers of Georgia and Alabama continue to appeal to the Southern whites not to vote at the coming election for a Convention to reorganize the States, it is not