BECKIPTS AND EXPENDITURES.

We have always considered the statement of the yearly receipts and expenditures of our county, as publishthose who were acquainted with its intricate parts. From appearances the tax collectors have not been vigilant, is one-fourth in the hands of the taxpayers. An indebtedness of $6,790 59, the immediate collection of this money. The Treasurer falls short in his account $1,577 25, which immediately suggests that too much loose speculatbeen cashed promptly this trouble might have been saved the officer, also, an item of "Interest on County Orders, $17 32," to the county. The report of the Directors of the Poor shows a cost of $7,488 14 to the county the past year. Properly managed this institution should be a source of revenue; whereas the above is an increase of $1,333 34 over the previous year. Let this be looked to by tax-payers or it will never correctitself. Two items in the Expenditures excite curiosity. One charged "Sundries $23 74," is curious for its convenience and applicability. Why not have charged it "A jolly good time $10 00," a "Box "Auditors' Clerks' fees, $35 00," is when my honor as a soldier and inhad the opportunity. Just above the volve me in the resistance of law for and your sneers, your beautiful billforegoing item is another of "Au litors' which you hesitated to assume the Fees, $195." These Auditors drew on responsibility in orders, and thus to the County for this amount, at the destroy my character before the ments, your irony, ridicule, invective, gation were admitted as members by gone so far, Mr. Johnson could not same time the county pays $35 to Clerks for the work they should do. The total expense of the county is reduced $2,790 48, from that of the preceding year. In looking over the column of Expenses it occurs to us that the reduction should be still larger, ly to the American heart. by the proper care of officers.

FROM WASHINGTO T.

Washington, Feb. 5 .- The President is extremely irritated at the publication of the Grant correspondence, and has not allowed Gen'l, Grant to have the last word, but to-day replied to his letter in very sharp and bitter language, reminding him, it is said, that he (Grant) is subordinate to the to use such language as that contained in his last letter to the Commander-inchief of the army. The President ed during the week, and Thursday the further intimates that he will not subthis letter.

But few members were aware of the MONDAY morning last, the printing nature of the correspondence, and its effeet on the House was decidedly fresh chagrined as they listened to the Presiposed to be the work of an incendi- dent's letter and then to Grant's arv. As to the origin of this corresponlence, it is proper to state that so far as Gen. Grant is concerned, he was forced into it by the repeated attacks on his character as a man and a soldier, inspired by the President and spread broadeast through his partisan organs.
