Poetry.

ANDY JOHNSON. How is that man who used to be A tailor down in Tennessee? An elbowed for popularity?

MR. BINGHAM'S ELOQUENCE.

One of the most effective passages in Mr. Bingham's argument, was contained in these words: The gentleman from New York (Mr. Evans) took occasion to refer to the fugitive slave bill of 1850, a bill that was disgraceful to the Congress which enacted it.

DESCRIPTION OF THE POPULAR LOANS.

Jas. T. Brady & Co., Bankers corner of Fourth and Wood Streets, Pittsburgh, Pa., have placed in our hands the following circular, which shows the character of all loans made to the Government during and since the war.

BALLY FOR THE LEADER.

Am—"Come all ye Jolly Shepherds." The bough has been sounded, It echoes through the glen. It stirs the loyal millions Of brave and honest men.

NASHY ON SERGEANT BATES.

Mr. Nasby was at Pettisville with Sergeant Bates arrived at that village with his flag. He reports the following speech of welcome: "Sergeant Bates, Sir: Understand in as we do, that you divinely made a wager (which is a bet) with a Wisconsin abolitionist that you would walk from Vixburg to Washington carrying the American flag unfurled without being insulted nor nothing, and having received testimony from leading Democrats of Wisconsin, which is entirely satisfactory to you, that you are in no sense, nor never will be at any time, in sympathy with the Abolition, or ex they falsely style themselves, the Republican party, we extend to you the hospitalities of Pettisville.

HOW AN ERUPTION OF VESUVIUS LOOKS.

A correspondent of the Pall Mall Gazette, writing from Mount Vesuvius, April 4, gives the following unusually clear and interesting account of one of the explosive exhibitions of that famous mountain: We had heard several explosions as we came up the mountain, and had seen an occasional shower of sparks thrown up above the little crater; and these gradually increased until we had taken our stand as described. Then for more than two hours the hill above us continued to shoot forth an almost constant succession of explosions of brilliant burning stones.

A PERFECT MATCH.

THE Jewels dangle in her ears, Her waist is but a slender span; And as she swings along she says, "I'm going to catch a dandy man."

DEMOCRACY AND NEGRO SUFFRAGE.

The golden apple which the minority Democracy have been promising to the Union soldiers when they get in power has turned to ashes, and has actually been proven worse than a delusion. Last year by some local disaffection in the Republican ranks, the Democracy of Ohio succeeded in electing a majority in both branches of the Legislature.

THE NEW PARTY PROJECT.

Mr. Chase a Presidential Candidate. The Washington correspondent of the New York Times—who is little given to sensation—gives the following concerning the new party project on the tapis, and which has been one of the chief complications developed by the impeachment:

ARRIVAL OF BRICK POMEROY.

The great Democratic leader, Brick Pomeroiy is likely to have a formidable rival in the person of a journalist named Vance, who issues a paper at Warsaw, Kentucky, called The Sign of the Times. The Democratic masses of the country are sustaining the Le Croix Democrat so liberally, and its sentiments seem to suit the party so admirably, that we may expect to see many of the same character spring up all over the country.

JUDGE WOODWARD GETS A LASHING.

On a motion of Thaddeus Stevens to ask the Senate to send a certified copy of the last two days of the trial to the House a stormy time set in. No one could fathom the reasons for this request. Mr. Ross, of Illinois, asked Mr. Stevens if he thought Senators should prepare themselves in order to convict Andrew Johnson? Mr. Stevens replied that he was inclined to think it would hurt them much.

TAXING AND BEING TAXED.

It is one thing to be taxed, and quite a different thing to tax one's self. How many people pay their Government taxes grudgingly, who at the same time needlessly squander ten times the amount? It is asserted that nearly fifteen hundred million dollars were spent last year in the United States for intoxicating drinks—or half enough to pay off the national debt.

THE BANKRUPT LAW.

The first year of the operation of the Bankrupt Law expires on the first day of June next, after which time all petitioners must pay fifty per cent of their liabilities or procure the assent in writing of three-fourths of their creditors in order to obtain discharge from their debts. It is not true, as many suppose, that the operation of the fifty per cent clause has been postponed to the first of January.

DEPRAVED CONDUCT OF A YOUNG LADY.

The inhabitants of our quiet and virtuous village have for the past two weeks been compelled to behold in their midst a most disgraceful and unpleasant scene. An old hoary-headed individual, who has been stopping here for the past three months, and whose head the frosts of many winters have passed, has been publicly seen reclining in the lap and arms of a young and blushing damsel. Whether it has been a matter of choice upon the part of the maiden, or whether the attentions of the old gray-headed villain were forced upon her we cannot say.

DEMOCRACY AND NEGRO SUFFRAGE.

The last Democratic Convention of Ohio resolved: "That we are opposed both in principle and policy to Negro Suffrage." That of South Carolina resolved: "That we declare our willingness, when we have the power, to grant the colored citizens, with the proper qualifications as to property and intelligence, the right of suffrage." That of Illinois resolved: "That the right of suffrage shall be limited to the white race in this country."

THE TRIBUNE ON THE CHIEF JUSTICE.

The New York Tribune has the following. It is deemed significant here, because until quite lately a number of Mr. Chase's friends have counted on the Tribune for aid in any movement looking to bringing out Chase: "The man who has done more than all others, unless in a pecuniary sense, to secure this result is Chief Justice Chase. He decided the vote of Mr. Van Winkle. He did his utmost, happily in vain, to carry off Messrs. Anthony and Sprague. We doubt that Mr. Henderson would have voted as he did, but for the Chief Justice's exertions. Those exertions saved Andrew Johnson from a verdict which we feel that he has worked hard and successfully to deserve. Thanks to infinite mercy there is an ordinal before us in which a concurrence of two-thirds is not required to insure a righteous verdict. Let Messrs. Chase, Fessenden & Co., take care of their man Johnson, while we organize for and make certain the joyful advent of Grant and victory."

It turns out that there is one more revolutionary hero lingering this side of the grave—Jesse Blackburn, who was born in Cheslerburg county, Virginia, is now one hundred and ten years of age, and served about one year in the Revolution before the close of the war. He is now living in Russell county Ky.
