Among those gentlemen who sent letters to Wise, of Virginia. His letter is quite long, being a commentary upon the politics of the He received nearly twenty different cuts, the day; but we extract from it that portion which treats of "Shells," a scientific handling of the subject which cannot fail to amuse while it instructs also, Mr. Wise says :

"You must not wonder that your Democratic friends in Virginia are often confused by names three inches long. M'Coy was covered with and things in New York. We wish to see a united Democracy there on the old grounds of Jefferson and Jackson. We hear of Hard, and Soft, and Half-Shells, and the ideas we form of them can be best illustrated by a subject of natural history. We have in our waters gentlemen, a crustaceous animal called a crab-a sea fish-with fins and claws at both ends, but can run either end foremost. Poke at him this way and he runs that, that way and he runs this,-He is remarkable, gentlemen, for his claw, and barnacles to grow upon his back-and it will of three States which they have carried this not separate or be detached from the inner cut- year, all of them by largely-diminished majorities -when he is hard be sure to crack his claw, crats the lower house. gentlemen-and you will find that, though his outer shell is still very hard, yet it will separate of high commendation of such Democrats as and can be detached from the inner cuticle or zette of the 22d says :
