PHILADELPHIA ELECTION.

although the ragged and limping thing known Although the ragged and imping thing known as Know Nothingism, has, during the present year, received some terrible castigations, the scrushing out administered to it by the sturdy Democracy of Philadelphia, is the most significant and gratifying yet announced. Two years ago this midnight faction exulted in a triumph, where, on Tuesday last, they were literally overwhelmed. Then they counted their majorities by many thousands; now they suftheir majorities by himse equal numbers. Philadelphia was theirs; they occupied every position within its limits: proscription was eager to catch a victim; peor girls were dismissed from situations in the public schools, because of their religion, to give place to the daughters, cousins and nieces of those who were the daugners, cosms an interest of table who were marked with active members of the Order, and every little place down to coal carrier was sought after and obtained by some beggarly patriot, over the am with patriotism and love for the spoils of office. We know the result. In twelve months from the date of this Know Nothing victory, Philaelphia was bankrupt. Her authorities neglected heir legitimate duties, concocting plans to plunder he people. Large salaries for her profligate officials, and high taxes for the people were then the or-der of the day; sincures were created for clamor-ous loafers, and all were encouraged and sustained Nicholas Lyons.

This has been the course of these Know-Nothing leaders of Philadelphia. Loud in declamation about their love of America and harred of the Pope, they are the course of the second of the Pope, they have the course of the Pope, they have the profession of the Pope, they have the Pope, they have the profession of the Pope, they have the Pope, their love of America and hatred of the Pope, they succeeded in directing attention from their real object, which proved to be public plunder. But they have had their day in Philadelphia; a pepular majority of over four thousand has put the seal of condennation upon their infamous cause. Desperately did they struggle to retain their hold upon the government of the City, but they were most signally rebuked by an outrage and plundered people.

The triumphant Democracy of Philadelphia have now a glorious opportunity presented to make a lasmor may be a lasmor more sign upon the people of the entire council.

now a glorious opportunity presented to make a lasting impression upon the people of the entire country. Let them dismiss every political loafer who occupies any public place; let them abolish all sincentes, reduce the people's taxes and raise their city from bankruptcy and shame. It will require some time to rub out the stains that now disgrace' her, but we have abiding faith in the ability of Vaux and his associates to finally accomplish it.—Pittsburg
