THE SONG OF THE CAMP.

A CRIMEAN INCIDENT. BY HAYARD TAYLOR. "Give us a song!" the soldier cried, The outer trenches gauding...

There was a pause. The guardsman said: "We storm the forts to-morrow; Sing while we may, another day Will bring enough of sorrow."

They lay along the battery's side, Below the smoking cannon— Brave hearts, from Severn and from Clyde, And from the banks of Shannon.

They sang of love, and not of fame; Forgot was Britain's glory; Each heart recalled a different name, But all sang "Annie Laurie."

Voice after voice caught up the song, Until its tender passion Rose like an anthem, rich and strong— Their battle-axe confession.

Dear girl, her name he dared not speak, Yet as the song grew louder, Something upon the soldier's cheek Washed off the stains of powder.

Beyond the darkening ocean burned The bloody sun-set's embers, While the Crimean valleys learned How English love remembers.

And once again the fire of hell Rained from the Russian quarters, With scream of shot and burst of shell, And following of the mortars.

And Irish Nora's eyes are dim For a singer, dumb and gory; And English Mary mourns for him Who sang of "Annie Laurie."

Ah, soldier! to your honored rest Your truth and valor bearing, The bravest are the tenderest— The loving are the daring.

Agricultural Department.

MAXIMS FOR FARMERS.—For rich farms, stock with the stately Durhams; for poorer, the active Devons. The best point for a milker is a thin thigh. To kill caterpillars, rub them up with the hand.

THRASHING OUT GRAIN.—As soon as you can address yourself to the duty, have your wheat thrashed out, cleaned, and ready for market. Keep your eyes steady upon the market, and avail yourself of the first good opportunity, when the price is highly remunerative, to sell your crop.

HORSE TALK.—The New York Spirit of the Times gives the following characteristics of a good horse: 1. His eyes, even when seen in the stable, are perfectly clear and transparent, and the pupils or apples of the eyes are alike in color and size.

2. On being nipped in the gullet, he will utter a sound like that from a bellows; if, on the contrary, he should give vent to a dry, husky, short cough, beware of him—his wind is unsound.

3. His legs are smooth and "clean"; if you find bunches or puffs, or a difference in size, though he may not be lame, disease lurks there.

4. If broad and full between the eyes, he is susceptible of being trained to almost anything.

5. If some white, or parti-colored, he is docile and gentle.

SHELTER FOR STOCK.—Many farmers still neglect their animals in winter, feeding them from the stock-yard in the open air. This practice is not only barbarous, but is very expensive. It takes a third more of hay to carry a cow through the winter by this method, and with the best of hay, she will not come out in good condition.

Warm stables are a substitute for fodder, and an animal sheltered in them, is much more easily kept in high flesh. Then, by stabling animals, we can save all the manure, which is quite too large an item for farmers in this age to throw away.

Many who have large farms, and do not wish to build a barn long enough to hold all the hay and grain, build several small barns in different meadows. These save the carting, both of hay and of manures.

In no case should hay be foddered out to cattle without some kind of shelter. A hovel opening to the south can be made very cheaply, and with light walls and that shed roof, it will keep cattle quite comfortable. They will save the cost of building in a single winter. Now is the time to put them up.

FUNNY RAT TRAP.—A correspondent of the Genesee Farmer relates the following funny way of catching rats: "I build my corn crib on posts about eighteen inches high, made rat-proof by putting a broad board or sheet-iron on the top of the posts. Make every thing secure against rats except the granary, and have this rat-proof except at one of the back corners. Here, where they will like it best, make a niche hole with a spout five inches long on the outside, where they can go in and out and eat at pleasure. Then, if I think the rats are too numerous, I take a bag, after dark, and slip the mouth over the spout on the outside of the granary. Then send Ben in at the door with a light, and the rats and mice will all run into the bag. Then slip the bag off the spout, and slap it once or twice against the side of the granary. Turn out the dead, and in an hour or two repeat the process. After all are killed, stop up the hole till new recruits arrive, which catch in the same way."
