

Farmers' Column.

IN DEBT FOR HIS FARM.

This is the case with many throughout the length and breadth of the land. Not having all the needed cash on hand to purchase their farms at once, they paid what they could, and gave a mortgage for the remainder. Very well. They now have a powerful motive to industry. Every dollar saved is at least as good as one earned, and every dollar earned is a new step towards independence. From year to year, the incumbrance grows a little lighter, and the prospect of a competence a little brighter. But some tell us that the good time is a long while in coming; they do not make farming as profitable as they could wish: can we help them by any suggestions?

We reply that we know of no royal road to riches through agriculture more than in other pursuits. But we are assured that much can be gained by farming in an intelligent and thorough manner. It will not do to work at random, or by rote, even though one work like a slave. It will not do to work with poor and insufficient implements. It will not do to waste time and strength and manure on wet land, when it ought to be drained. It will not pay off the debt, to let the manure heap waste its virtues in the sun and rain. In short it will not answer to labor hard and hoard with one hand, while wasting with the other.

But we cannot go into details on this subject; it would only be rehearsing the lesson we have so long and so largely taught in our columns heretofore. We can say, however, most truthfully, that one of the best ways to learn how to reduce the farm debt rapidly, will be to read one or more of the leading agricultural journals. They give instructions in economy; they teach experience and observation; in short, they teach how to farm in the best and most profitable manner. A little money and thinking so invested will yield the most ample returns. In our own experience, we remember a single hint obtained from an agricultural paper, in regard to putting in grain crops, which was clearly worth sixty two dollars the same year. This, and similar results on our farm and on others, more than any thing else, led us to our present field of labor. We are confident that no one can take and read even the poorest agricultural paper in the country, without deriving hints and suggestions therefrom, which will in the long run pay him enough to meet the expense of a hundred annual subscriptions.—American Agriculturist

THAWING FROZEN PUMPS.

In the coldest time we had in January last, my pump froze up down to the box below the bucket. I poured in hot water repeatedly during one day, but could make no impression upon it seemingly. I poured in a pint of salt but that did no good. My cattle went two days without water, looked hollow, and showed signs of great thirst. My neighbors told me that I should always be troubled with this old wooden pumps and must get a chain pump, as they never freeze up. But I could not make it convenient to get one this winter, and so I set to work to manage my old pump. Some told me to make a gimlet hole in the pump stock below the bucket and just above the box and that would let the water out, so it would not freeze. But this was too much trouble, as I had to pour water into the pump every time to start it; so I plugged up the gimlet hole. I then thought of trying a tin or lead pipe, by inserting the pipe in the pump down in the ice, and pouring hot water into the pipe. I found the pipe would quickly melt its way through the ice; and in less than five minutes the most incorrigible case would be thawed out completely. On inquiry I found a tin pipe, half an inch in diameter, was the best and cheapest size, and cheaper than lead, and could be easily inserted either side of the pump handle. It only wants a pipe long enough to reach down to the ice and down through it. I got one five feet long and it cost me fifty cents, and had a small funnel in the top end.

When I have thus thawed out my pump, it lasts all day and sometimes a week, according to the weather. A few moments with the pipe and hot water, makes all easy again. So says a correspondent of the Country Gentleman.

SAW-DUST FOR LITTERING STABLES.

This is quite valuable to absorb the liquids and to prevent the foul odors arising from stables. If ammonia is one of the most powerful fertilizers, why should not the greatest pains be taken to save it? For this purpose, saw-dust is just the thing. It is useful, also, on the score of the horse's health and comfort. It is injurious to animals' feet to stand in the liquids of his stall; it is hurtful to his eyes and stomach, and his lungs, to remain long in an atmosphere charged with the powerful vapors arising from those liquids. We wonder that the poor creatures stand it so well as they do. Dry muck answers very well to scatter daily in the stables, though saw-dust is much better. It is quite important, however, in clearing out the stalls daily, to mix a little muck or plaster with the saw-dust and manure to prevent the whole from violent fermentation.

The Farmers.

A New Jersey Farmer hits off some folks handsomely. He says: "People say the farmers are the most independent class; and pray why should we not be? We have to work hard enough for what we get. The reason why farmers don't fall along with the rest, is because we live within our means. I own a good farm, and if I was to live as people do in the cities, it would take five farms to keep me and my family."

CARDING CATTLE.

We think there is no doubt that grown cattle need to be daily carded. Young cattle may do well enough without a card, but the old ones should have their hides scratched to keep the pores of the skin open. Card them at a certain time of day, and they will like the operation. Pigs and hogs like to be carded, but we cannot spare time to gratify them. They must be satisfied with rubbing against a post in the middle of the pen.

Stables.

Have the floors of your stables dusted with plaster every few days. It will have a twofold effect: it will preserve the eyes of your horses from the baleful influence of ammonia gas, and preserve the latter for your crops.

LIVER COMPLAINT CURED BY Lindsey's Improved Blood-Searcher.—Blair County, Pa. Personally appeared before me, one of the Justices of the Peace, in and for Blair County, George Kopp, being duly sworn according to law, doth depose and say: Two years ago I was afflicted with pain between the shoulders, almost constant cough, loss of appetite, chills, night sweats, and very subject to colds. I at length became so weak that I could hardly walk; my physician told me no good. Some time last fall, I commenced taking Lindsey's improved blood-searcher, and by the use of two bottles was perfectly cured. I feel, I recommend it to all who suffer from Liver diseases, general debility, loss of appetite, and other diseases arising from impurity of the blood. I would not like to do without it. I consider it an excellent family medicine. (Signed) GEORGE KOPP. Sworn and subscribed this 15th day of March, A. D. 1857, before me, J. GORLEY, J. P. And is well known to the citizens of Blair and Bedford counties as a man of excellent character and influence.

A DESPERATE CASE OF TETTER and BARBER'S ITCH, cured by the use of Lindsey's Blood Searcher. I, the undersigned, sometime in March was severely afflicted with what was pronounced by my physician to be a certain kind of Tetter and Barber's Itch. My condition was such that the greatest misery my face was almost constantly running with the foul corruption that escaped from the tubercles, by which it was almost completely covered. After being under the care of my physicians for near two years, and having expended a considerable sum of money, I was induced to make a trial of Lindsey's Blood Searcher, and the result was that in using one bottle and a half I found a perfect cure. I may also say that I eagerly tried whatever was recommended as a cure. Such was my wretchedness that I even resorted to the dangerous expedient of cauterizing the face on my face and neck, but all to no purpose—the Blood Searcher was the first and only thing that did me any good. As a blood purifier it is unequalled; and I have great reason to be grateful that I ever made a trial of its healing virtues, and I confidently recommend it to any who may suffer from Tetter, or any other disease arising from an impure state of the blood. JOHN DELEHUNT. Hollidaysburg, Pa., July 29 1857.

AN INTERESTING CASE OF SCROFULA cured by one bottle of Lindsey's Blood Searcher. This certifies that about one year ago our little son aged four years was most severely afflicted with what the physicians pronounced to be a scrofula, and was treated accordingly for nearly a year, but without the slightest benefit. His eyes were running a thin matter humor almost constantly; which would encrust his eyes beyond the power of opening them for several days at a time, and he could not see at all. About the same time an abscess formed just below the groin, which in due time broke and commenced a discharge, which was found impossible to dry up or heal—the bed would be very much stained and the clothing of the child perfectly sickening in consequence of the odor arising from the discharge of a physician for so long a time, and finding the child getting worse, we determined to try the effect of Mr. Lindsey's Blood Searcher. This was in last March—and before two weeks had passed away the change was manifest, and I am happy to say that in using one SINGLE BOTTLE our little boy has been perfectly restored to health. We cannot speak too highly of this invaluable medicine. It should be in every family—none should be without it. As a purifier of blood it is beyond all price! DANIEL BOLLINGER. Hollidaysburg, Pa., July 20, 1857.

Notice To the Citizens of Bedford County.

THE WONDER OF THE AGE! J. M. LINDSEY'S GREAT MEDICAL DISCOVERY! Which is a purely vegetable Preparation, for the purifying of blood, giving vigor to the Liver, stomach and bowels, and expelling from the system all morbid matter, and substituting in its stead a healthy activity through all the functions of life. HOW IT WAS DISCOVERED! In the fall of 1851 a daughter of Mr. Lindsey was suffering from a malignant attack of Cancer Oris (Canker of the mouth). She had previously been prostrated by the attack of Dysentery, inflammation of the lungs and Hectic Fever, successively, which resulted in the above named disease in its worst form. Her condition was most deplorable—her mouth and cheek were literally rotten—the attending physician pronounced the case a hopeless one. Everything indicated a speedy and horrible death—the death of rotting out of life! At this critical juncture Mr. Lindsey prepared a compound for the purpose of alleviating, possible, the pains of the little sufferer. She was made to use it freely, and in a short time to his most delightful astonishment, there was a certain change for the better. The month began to put on a bright and healthy appearance—the foul breath became sweet—the appetite was restored, and the child seemed to partake of a new and fresh life. Hope was inspired, and the use of the compound was faithfully continued, the result of which, with the blessing of God, was her complete restoration. She is now perfectly healthy! From this circumstance, Mr. Lindsey was led to prepare with greater care and exactness, what had so astonishingly cured his child, and continued his experimental efforts until he succeeded in bringing to perfection his Great Remedy for Blood Impurities, since which time its effects have been almost miraculous. Hundreds upon hundreds, by it, have been snatched from an untimely grave and restored to the sweets of health and the endearment of friends. The young and old have tested it, saving powers and sing along its virtues. Say they—using Lindsey's Improved Blood Searcher, we felt as if a new life were being wrought upon us, and under God we owe it to more than words can express."

But hear from their own lips and then judge of its valuable effects. The few testimonials that follow certify that it is deservedly styled the Greatest Discovery of this or any other age. J. M. LINDSEY. Hollidaysburg, Blair county, Pa. CERTIFICATE! Pattonville, Bedford co., Pa., Oct. 14, '57. Mr. J. M. LINDSEY. Dear Sir—I was severely afflicted with rheumatism for a whole year and nine months of which time I was not able to leave my bed—when hearing of the wonderful effects of your Improved Blood Searcher, I determined to procure some of it and give it a fair trial. After using three bottles I was able to walk around again as usual, and am now wholly cured. I can recommend it to all who are similarly afflicted, and believe it is all it claims to be. Yours, truly, JOHN SHAFER.

sworn according to law, doth depose and say, that in the spring of 1856, I was a victim to that worst of diseases—dyspepsia, and that in its worst form. My appetite was completely gone, and when, in order to preserve life, I would force myself to swallow a mouthful of food, the stomach would immediately reject it, and cast it forth with the spittle. I had also been suffering with the ague, each attack lasting about nine months out of the twelve, so that, with the ague and dyspepsia, I was reduced as I thought beyond recovery; I thought I must die, my physician could do me no good. Such was my condition, when Mr. Lindsey supplied me with a bottle of his improved blood-searcher, assuring me it would work a cure. I commenced its use but with little confidence, but, in one week's time—so great was its restorative power—I found my appetite to return, my stomach received a new tone, so that I could eat anything without the slightest inconvenience, and before its healing touch the ague fled as with a charm; nor have I been troubled with ague or dyspepsia since. I enjoy a better state of health than I had done for fifteen years before; I am strong and hearty, and I feel confident that, under the blessing of God, I owe all to the invaluable Improved Blood-Searcher. I believe it to be not only a sure remedy for ague, but an infallible preventive, and, as such, I would recommend it to all whose business, habits, or residence, expose them to this dreadful pest of humanity. sworn according to law, doth depose and say, that in the spring of 1856, I was a victim to that worst of diseases—dyspepsia, and that in its worst form. My appetite was completely gone, and when, in order to preserve life, I would force myself to swallow a mouthful of food, the stomach would immediately reject it, and cast it forth with the spittle. I had also been suffering with the ague, each attack lasting about nine months out of the twelve, so that, with the ague and dyspepsia, I was reduced as I thought beyond recovery; I thought I must die, my physician could do me no good. Such was my condition, when Mr. Lindsey supplied me with a bottle of his improved blood-searcher, assuring me it would work a cure. I commenced its use but with little confidence, but, in one week's time—so great was its restorative power—I found my appetite to return, my stomach received a new tone, so that I could eat anything without the slightest inconvenience, and before its healing touch the ague fled as with a charm; nor have I been troubled with ague or dyspepsia since. I enjoy a better state of health than I had done for fifteen years before; I am strong and hearty, and I feel confident that, under the blessing of God, I owe all to the invaluable Improved Blood-Searcher. I believe it to be not only a sure remedy for ague, but an infallible preventive, and, as such, I would recommend it to all whose business, habits, or residence, expose them to this dreadful pest of humanity. Dyspepsia cannot stay where the Improved Blood-Searcher is properly used. I feel it my duty to point all who suffer, to this all-healing medicine.
