THE LAND OF DREAMS.

BY WM. C. BRYANT.

A mighty realm is the land of dreams, With steeps that hang in the twilight sky, That gleam where the dusky valleys lie.

But over its shadowy borders flow Sweet rays from a world of endless morn, And the nearest mountains catch the glow, And flowers in the nearest fields are born,

The souls of the happy dead repair From the lowest of flight to that bordering land And walk in the fairer glory there, With the souls of the living, hand to hand.

One calm, sweet smile in that shadowy sphere, From eyes that open on earth no more-One warning word from a voice once dear-How they ring in the memory o'er and o'er.

Far off from these hills that shine with the day, And fields that bloom in the heavenly gales, The land of dreams goes stretching away To dimmer mountains and darker vales.

There lie the chambers of guilty delight; There walk the spectres of hope and fear; And soit low voices that float through the night, Are whispering sin in the guileless ear.

Pear maid, in thy girlhood's opening hours, Scarce weaned from the love of childhood's play, The tears on whose cheeks are the opening flowers That freshen the early bloom of May!

Thine eyes are closed, and over thy brow Pass thoughtful shadows and joyous gleams, And I know by the moving lips that now Thy spirit strays in the land of dreams.

Light-hearted maiden, oh heed thy feet! Oh, keep where that beam of paradise falls! And only wander where thou mayest meet The blessed ones from its shining walls

So shalt thou come from the land of dreams With love and peace to this world of strife. And the light that over its border streams, Shall lie on the path of thy daily life.

INAUGURAL ADDRESS OF COV. WILLIAM F. PACKER.

THE ROOT OF THE MATTER .- An individual sent for his physician, and after detailing the whole catalogue of his pains and aches, he deliberately summed up thus:

"Now, doctor, you have h enough with your good-for-nothing pills and worthless syrups and trash-they don't bebegin to touch the real difficulty. I wish you to strike the real cause of my ailment, if it is in

"There," said he, "drink only of heaven's distillery-pure rain water, and you won't need

Guess doctors would be honest men if their patients would let them! Even so would priests, by the same rule: and lawyers, too-all become nonest men, if a stupid world would let them. So much for cause and effect .- Materials for
