The Farm as a Work of Art.

As a work of art, I know few things more pleasing to the eye, or more capable of affording scope and gratification to a taste for the beautiful, than a well situated, well cultivated farm .--The man of refinement will hang with never-wearied gaze on a landscape by Claude or Salvator; the price of a section of the most fertile land in the West would not purchase a few square feet of the canvass on which these great artists have depicted a rural scene. But nature has forms and proportions beyond the painter's skill ; her divine pencil touches the landscape with living lights and shadows, never mingled on his pallet. What is there on earth which can more entirely charm the eye, or gratily the taste than a noble farm ? It stands upon a southern slope, gradually rising with variated ascent from the plain, sheltered from the north-treat—and no pains will be spared to please all western winds by woody hights, broken here and there by moss covered boulders, which im-

It is situated off the high road, but near enough to the village to be easily accessible to the church, the school-house, the post-office, the railroad, a sociable neighbor, or a traveling friend. It consists in due proportion of pasture and tillage, has opened a Jewelry Store in the building re meadow and woodland, field and garden. Pattonsville, Bedford co., Pa., Oct. 14, '57. Mr. J. M. LINDSEY. Dear Sir:--I was severely afflicted with rheuma-tism for a whole year--nine months of which time I wasnot able to leave my bed--when hearing of the wonderful effects of your Improved Blood Searcher, I determined to procure some it and give it a fair tri-al. After using three bottles I was able to walk around again as usual, and am now whelly cured. I can recommend it to all who are similarly afflicted, and believe it is all it claims to be. Yours, truly, JOHN SHAFFER.

I, the undersigned, sometime in last March was severely afflicted with what wa nounced by my physicians to be a certain kind of Tet-ter and Barber's ltch. My condition was one of the greatest misery; my face was almost constantly run-ning with the foul corruption that escaped from the tubercles, by which it was almost completely covered. After being under the care of my physicians for near two months, without the least benefit, I was in-duced to make a trial of Lindsey's Blood Searcher, and the result was that in using one bottle and a ball 1 found a perfect cure, I may also say that leagerly tried whatever was recommended as a cure.— Such was my wretchedness that 1 even resorted to full assortment of plain and tancy cases, and gold and plated Lockets, at verylow prices, and The public are respectfully invited to call blood Searcher was the first and only thing that did Blood Searcher was the instant of the is unequalled; & me any good. WINTERING COLTS .- A snug shed, or stable, is best for wintering colts, provided they be halter-broke, which they should be before winter sets in. They will eat all sorts of coarse food, but should have a little grain or meal, say a pint to a quart in a day, according to their size and age. They should, if convenient, run out a part of the day. They love to forage on a cattle dung heap, and pick out the waste litter. Let them have all they want of it, and it is a healthy variety for them. A dry pasture when snow is off the ground, is a good change for them also. We have wintered many colts in our farming, and found that nothing got through the season easier than they.
