LANE. THE MURDERER.

Our readers are well aware that this greatest of unhung scoundrels, committed a deliberate murder a short time ago, by shooting dead his neighbor and friend, Gams Jenkins. There is not the shadow of a doubt, that Lane is guilty of murder. No sane man who is acquainted with the facts connected with the shooting of Jenkins, would pronounce him otherwise. The shooting was not done in self-defence. There was not sufficient provocation in the conduct of Jenkins to justify Lane in firing at him. Look at the facts of the case. Jenkins had forcibly entered an enclosure which Lane had erected about a well claimed by both parties, and was about to draw some water from the well, when Lane came forth from his house, armed with a shot-gun which he immediately presented at the breast of Jenkins, telling him at the same time to quit the well, or he would shoot him. Jenkins had merely time to reply to him, "No! you won't Jim," when Lane pulled the trigger and shot him dead. Does this show that there was any necessity for self-defence on the part of Lane? Does it show that he was in imminent peril of his life? No ! It proves that Lane committed a deliberate, cold-blooded, brutal murder. And yet this blood-spotted wretch has found a tribunal partial enough to his redhanded wickedness, to acquit him ! A Pennsylvania jury would have hung him as high as Haman, but a Court of Abolition Judges in Kansas pronounce him guiltless and set him free that he may steep his murderous hands in the blood of other victims. These Abalitian rindeand dared not find him guilty lest Kansas would not "bleed" any more. His existence is indispensable to the Abolitionists and without his aid they would not have the ghost of a hope for 1860. He is the Lane by which they expect the "Woolly Horse," sooner or later, will travel to the White House. For this reason they preserve him as "the apple of their eye." For this reason he can perpetrate with impuni-

From this acquittal of Lane, can be drawn an idea of what Abolition justice is in Kansas. Lane himself, as will be seen by the report of follows his trial, acknowledged his judges to be

ANOTHER CHANGE.

"The qualified voters of Bedford County, of the present National Administration," are we sure that it is desirable that it should do so, called upon by the Chairman of "the County even if it were practicable. We suspect that Committee" (what County Committee ?) to in times past the interests of the country may elect delegates to a County Convention .- have suffered from mixing up the question of What can this call mean? It is not directed Protection with party politics; and the Southto any political organization-it does not even when they could not have done so but for such mention the parties which the Democracy have mixture. But, however that may be, it seems lately battled with-it is addressed neither to to us that, as a national party, the Republicans Americans, nor Republicans and does not even recognize these as living organizations. Why is this? Has the great and terrible "American Republican" party already given up the ghost ? be addressed by name? Or, is it because it was feared that if the call were made to any one, or all, of these parties that the Amalgamation would be troublesome to form ?

The fact is the Opposition want a new name badly, and they are just now rummaging their dictionaries to find one. We suggested some the Chairman of "the ____ County Committee," is now holding our suggestion under advisement. If he is a man of taste and has any idea of the "eternal fitness of things," he will most assuredly accept the name we propose.

When political parties are compelled to change their names thus frequently, have we not good cause to suspect "something rotten" in their "Denmark ?" The thief, the forger, the murderer, as he flees from place to place, to hide himself from the outraged law, changes his name and endeavors to move unsuspected through the world by the aid of his hundred ly every year. Therefore, let men who respect themselves, at once cut loose from such an organization and enlist under the broad folds of that flag which since the days of the immortal Jefferson, has been inscribed with no other name than the eternal and ineffaceable watchword, DEMOCRACY !

Mrs. Caroline C. Stranburg, wife of P. P. Stranburg, of this city, was a passenger of the Pennsylvania, which was burned to the water's edge in the Mississippi, sixty miles below Memphis, on Sunday morning, 12th inst. Mrs. S. left her berth just before the explosion took place, and when she heard the report, which shook every piece of timber in the boat, she caught hold of her little child, which was only two months old, and rushed into the ladies' cabin, at the very moment that a large piece of She ran to the Captain's room and told him that the boat was on fire, but he said she was mistaken, and advised her to be calm. She said she was not inistaken, and her manner was so earnest that the captain thinking she might be correct, went down to the boiler deck. He returned in a short time, and remarked to Mrs. S., "There is no danger now ; the fire has been flames and told the captain to make preparations for saving the passengers.
