SPRING ELECTION.

The Democratic voters of Bedford township, Bedford, on Saturday, the third day of March, to be supported at the coming Spring election. DANIEL FETTER, J. T. GEPHART, J. W. SCOTT, Vigilance Committee.

Foreshadowings.

State, have resulted in such overwhelming defeats of the Opposition, that we may safely conclude that a powerful re-action is at present go- had flown. As yet there is no clue to the ing on in favor of the National Democracy. We have already given an account of the result in Lancaster, where the Democrats made a country and the political incendiarism of the dress. followers of John Brown and the preachers of his gospel. But these results are merely Union School, preceded Mr. Hickok, in a the faint foreshadowings of "coming events," of speech replete with logic, facts and sound comvictories which shall add fresh glory to the mon sense. We were well pleased with his Democratic cause, of triumphs infinitely prouder and more brilliant, the election of a Democratic Governor in October next, and the inauguration of a Democratic President on the fourth of March, 1861.

Republican State Convention.

This incongruous and heterogeneous assemblage met in Harrisburg, on Wednesday of last week, and nominated ANDREW G. CURTIN, of Centre county, as its candidate for Governor. Its sessions were a scene of perpetual storm, faction warring with faction and demagogue with demagogue. The friends of Simon Cameron, after a hard struggle, succeeded in having a resolution adopted by the Convention, recommending him as its choice for President. During the discussion of this resolution, a perfect thunder-shower of denunciation tell upon poor Simon. At length, however, a compromise was effected, by which Cameron will get Feasts" in 1855. Curtin, the nominee for judgement was entered. Governor, was Pollock's secretary of state, a regular jing-law man, and can be beaten 20,000 votes.

The Opposition Convention.

The Opposition State Convention terminated its labors by designating Simon Cameron as the choice of the People's party of Pennsylvania for President of the United States, and by nominating Andrew G. Curtin as its candidate and twelve-and-a-half cent pieces taken there- for Governor. The Convention was characterized by great disorder throughout, and at times presented more the appearance of a mass meeting or a mob than a grave and dignified representative body. This arose, in a great measure, from the incongruous nature of the material collected together. [Every shade, form an aperture large enough to admit a man's stripe and hue of Opposition to the Democratic hand. Two holes were also bored some dis- party were met together, with no other bond of sympathy than a common hatred of the principles of the great national party, and a common desire for the spoils of victory. There were also men who had in turn espoused and abandoned nearly every party, and were first Whigs or Democrats, then Know-Nothings, then Republicans, then Opposition, and finally People's party. There were men who have abused Cameron without stint and lauded him without fitted for the United States Senate, met in 1860 to present him with acclamations as the most worthy statesman, qualified to adorn the incongruous jumble of political inconsistencies. This was the character of the Convention which met in this place in the pretended name

> Ex-Gov. Pollock was very happily selected to provide over this assemblage, he being the living representative of the dangerous and ephemeral nature of what the Opposition dignify with the name of principle. Once elected Governor by an overwhelming majority of the people misled by momentary excitement, his administration proved a signal failure, and he retired from office marked with popular disapproval, after the most unsuccessful and odious administration which the State ever witnessed. On the present occession he appeared again on the surface to inaugurate another movement more disgraceful and dangerous than A part of the discussion to which Francis refers, the one with which his name is unhappily

As to all ending harmo- enemies have but to repeat their statements to show that the Convention presented, as its candidate, one who ought not to be President of the Unite States. This war upon the candidate of the majority was so fierce and determined, that they were compelled to abandon the original programmne of selecting all the delegates to Chicago, and to accede to demands which must result in a divided delegation .-The result will be to admit some of Gen. Dr. Seth S. Hance, Baltimore, Md .- Dear Sir : 1 take great pleasure in relating a case of spasms or fits, cured by your invaluable Pills. My brother, J. J. Ligon, has long been afflicted with this awful disease. He was first attacked while quite young. He would have one or two spasms at one attack at first ; but as he grew older, they seemed to increase likewise. Up to the time he commenced taking your Pills, he had them very often and quite severe ostrating him body and mind. His mind had sufered seriously; but now, I am happy to say, he is cured of those fits. He has enjoyed fine health for the last five months past. His mind has also re turned to its original sprightliness. All this I take a great pleasure in communicating, as it may be the means of directing others to the remedy that will cure them. Yours respectfully, δ.c., W. P. LIGON.

We think that, with Farm can be disposed of for such a sum as will purchase another property and pay for the buildings necessarily erected upon it. It is entirely and utterly wrong to increase the county debt, or to create any cause for its increase, at least at present. Let us first get rid of the debt that is resting upon us already, and then we may talk of additional expenditures on public improvements. But if the proceeds of the sale of the Poor House Mill and Farm, be made the maximum cost of the property to be purchased and the buildings to be erected, we shall wish the Bill and all who support it, a hearty Godspeed.

THE SPRING ELECTIONS.

Too little importance is generally attached to the Spring elections. It is as necessary to have competent township and borough officers, as it is to have county and state offices filled with good men. True, the duties of the former are not so arduous, important and difficult as those pertaining to the latter, but still an ignorant, selfish, negligent, or dissipated borough, or township official, may be the cause of much trouble and injury to the community in which he holds office. We think it, therefore, our duty to call upon our friends to turn out to the spring elections and see that the right kind of men are elected to office. As Democrats, we should feel it our bounden duty to go to the elections-to all elections, whether great, or small, important, or unimportant-and see that the right is sustained. Let us, therefore, enjoin upon you, friends, not to forget the third Friday of March, for on that day you can, it you will, do an important service to yourselves, your party and your country.
